U.S. Seeking Top Friendship With Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials were reported hopeful today that King Saud would use his influence as a leader of the Arab world to promote permanent settlements of urgent Middle Eastern questions.

At the top of the list is the need for early agreement between Egypt and the nations which use the Suez Canal on the operation of the waterway when it is reopened in March.

Saud, who began his conference with a private talk with President Eisenhower Wednesday, was to meet today with Secretary of State Dulles. His schedule also called for a luncheon given by Vice President Nixon.

A diplomatic reception in late afternoon and a dinner given by Dulles tonight were to round out the Saudi Arabian monarch's day.

Wednesday night Eisenhower gave a formal dinner in his honor at the White House. The guest list of 58 men included 12 banking and oil company executives. Also present were congressional leaders, ambassadors of the Arab countries and 16 members of the party which accompanied Saud.

Eisenhower received Saud in his office for a private 10-minute talk Wednesday afternoon. Then they joined a group of officials of both countries in the Cabinet room for 90 minutes of discussion. Afterward the President and the King returned to Eisenhower's office for a second private discussion with only an interpreter present.

The major aim of the talks with the King is to convince him of United States friendship and good will toward all the countries in the Middle East.

Israel, Egypt Pressed For OK On Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and Canada hopefully pressed Israel and Egypt today to accept a two-phase plan to end the standoff in the Sinai Desert.

The proposal was slated to take the form of twin resolutions. They would call for:

1. Israel's immediate withdrawal of all her forces from the Aqaba Coast and the Gaza Strip, territories she occupies outside the 1949 armistice line.

2. Posting of U. N. Emergency Force units on both sides of the Israeli-Egyptian armistice line, including the Gaza Strip, and along Egypt's Aqaba Coast until peace is stabilized.

Wilson Isn't Ultracrepidarian

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The Oklahoma Senate doesn't like what Secretary of Defense Wilson said about the National Guard but it refused Wednesday to call him "ultracrepidarian."

A resolution had been introduced accusing Wilson of "gross and unwarranted insult" when he said in Washington that enlistment in the Guard became a sort of draft dodging business during the Korean War.

Sen. J. R. Hall, a Miami, Okla., Democrat, unsuccessfully introduced an amendment which would have inserted "ultracrepidarian." He said it means "going beyond one's province or sphere — presumptuous."

Approximately 150 City Mothers Set For March On Polio Tonight

Approximately 150 Circleville mothers are all set to launch their annual March on Polio tonight.

Plans revealed by local March of Dimes officials indicate that every home in the city will be visited by the army of mothers, who will be seeking contributions for the 1957 fight against polio.

All residents are requested to turn on their porchlights to guide the mothers on their rounds. Each woman participating in the campaign will carry distinctive manila envelopes marked with the word "Polio" in dark blue letters.

Residents who are missed during the march, or who will not be at home, are asked to mail their contributions to Walter Fisher, campaign director, 558 N. Pickaway St.

* * *

THE MOTHERS will also be carrying polio shot record cards which they will leave at each home visited. The cards will serve to remind members of a family under 45 years of age that they should receive polio shots.

The march will also be conducted by mothers in Ashville.

In order to cover every section of Circleville, the city has been divided into five sections. Each section will have a district captain, section lieutenants and teams of contact mothers.

Section 1; Mrs. James E. Channing, captain; Mrs. D. R. McGregor, Mrs. D. R. Spalding, Mrs D. R. Crsit, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Robert Hockridel and Mrs. James Carr, section lieutenants.

Physicist Loses Valued Briefcase

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI and police today investigated the disappearance of a briefcase owned by a physicist and which he said contained government secrets.

Fletcher C. Paddison of Bethesda, Md., told police the briefcase vanished Wednesday while he was making a telephone call from an Illinois Central Railroad station

Paddison told police he was en route from Washington, D. C., to the Bendix Corp. guided missile plant in South Bend, Ind. Police said he referred to the contents of the missing case as "dynamite," but did not elaborate.

Aide List Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) reported today that there were 2,389,792 regular civilian employees of the federal government in December, a decline of 4,532 compared with November.

Film Censorship Renewal Sought

COLUMBUS (AP)—New attempts to impose film censorship in Ohio were made in the Legislature today.

The Senate and House received separate bills designed to overcome court objections that killed censorship two years ago.

Rancher Shuns Army Eviction

New Mexico Missile Range Land Sought

OROGRANDE, N. M. (AP)—Rugged 82-year-old John Prather today shrugged off the news that he had been ordered to vacate his home on the edge of a vast military firing range.

"A man has got a right to die at the home he spent his life building, and that's what I'm going to do," he snorted.

The military and the U. S. attorney have directed the land be vacated by March 1. The home buildings and heart of the ranch are 1½ miles inside the east border of the huge new McGregor guided missile range in south-central New Mexico.

Ten other ranchers besides Prather have been ordered off the range, but only one has gone. Prather has eight sections of good grassland inside the range and many more outside. That inside is the lush section, fed by underground water.

* * *

INFORMED OF the order, Prather, who has spent 50-odd years on his ranch, asked:

"Did that feller say March the 1st of what year?"

Told it was this year, he grinned and said, "I don't believe I'm going to make it. I've decided to finish out my first 100 years and go ahead and live another hundred to beat these people."

Skid Row Man Now Refutes His Confession

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward (Bennie) Bedwell, illiterate young Skid Row dishwasher, says he did not kill the Grimes sisters and the lengthy statement he signed admitting the slayings was a lie.

Bedwell testified in court Wednesday that he signed a 14-page confession after four days of questioning because "the sheriff's men beat and kicked me."

The 21-year-old derelict retracted the confession at a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Wilbert F. Crowley.

His attorney, David E. Bradshaw, demanded that Bedwell, who is charged with the murders of the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, be admitted to bail on the ground that his purported confession is false.

In the statement which Sheriff Joseph Lohman said Bedwell signed, the Skid Row drifter related that he and a companion named "Frank" had taken the Grimes sisters on a week-long sex and drinking spree.

Roads Slippery

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Highway Department today reported highways slippery in an area bounded by Greenville, Bucyrus, St. Clairsville, Chillicothe and Georgetown. Balance of the state's main highways are normal.

District Guard Commander Denounces Wilson's Remark

Secretary of Defense Wilson's remark that the National Guard was a haven for "draft dodgers" was branded as a "disgraceful statement" yesterday by Lt. Col. Francis B. Folk, commander of the 3rd Battalion of Ohio's National Guard. Circleville's Company I is a unit of the 3rd Battalion.

"The secretary must have been ill-informed to have made such a remark", Colonel Folk said. He told The Herald he had already sent a telegram of protest to Washington. And he added:

"The record of the Guard in World Wars I and II and the Korean War speaks for itself. President Eisenhower has been on record for more than 20 years in his support of the Guard."

Colonel Folk emphasized that a Guard enlistee makes himself liable for service rather than trying to evade it. "The Guard encourages a boy to plan his future, not to dodge the draft," he pointed out.

* * *

HE explained that joining the Guard, for instance, allows farmers to discharge their military obligation and still be in the area to carry on in work that is so vital to the country.

The nation, according to Colonel Folk, gets more value out of a man being trained part time for 10 years by the Guard than it does from a two year full-time period of service given by a draftee.

The colonel said:

"We spend $700 a year to train a man against the $10,000 a year the government spends on a draftee. For the last eight years of a boy's training with us, he's the equal of an army draftee."

The Guard commander believes that Secretary Wilson's statement, ironically, will aid the Guard. He said that greater efforts at recruitment will be made because present Guardsmen and former members have been aroused by Wilson's slur on the branch of service.

Colonel Folk said he thought much of the conflict between the Guard and the Defense Department stems from the larger issue of state vs. federal control of military forces.

He explained that although the Guard's primary responsibility is to the national government, units within any state might be summoned into action by order of the state's chief executive.

* * *

WILSON MADE his controversial remark last Monday in a discussion of the Defense Department's order calling for six months active training for Guard recruits. The Guard is resisting the order, which is scheduled to take effect on April 1.

At present an enlistee in the Guard receives two hours drill every week and spends two weeks during the Summer in field training. The Guard favored an 11-week basic military training period instead of the six-month Pentagon plan.

President Eisenhower stated at his weekly press conference Tuesday that he does not share the Secretary's view and that he thought the remark a very unwise one. Wilson, however, repeated his statement and said he saw no reason whatsoever to apologize for it.

At Least 7 Whites Held In Bombings

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — City detectives sought new evidence today in a continuing investigation which has already put at least seven white men in jail for the recent bombings of Negro homes and churches.

Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers announced Wednesday night that "seven or eight" men are being held for the dynamiting of four churches and three dwellings in an outburst of violence following the end of segregation on city buses.

"Several" have signed statements admitting participation in the bombings, he said.

Sellers said that one of the men, identified as Henry Alexander, 27, admitted shooting into a bus.

Arabian Prince Slated For Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors were to examine 3½-year-old Prince Mashhur today to find out what is causing the partial paralysis that has afflicted the young Saudi Arabian since birth.

On President Eisenhower's instructions, the boy was to be examined at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He arrived Wednesday with his father, King Saud, who is on a state visit as Eisenhower's guest.

Partial paralysis affects the prince's right hand and right leg.

King Saud's press secretary said many doctors in Saudi Arabia had examined the prince. The King brought the boy along in hopes American doctors could help.

Taxmen Warning On Income 'Tips'

COLUMBUS (AP)—The district director of internal revenue says his office plans to crack down on persons not reporting tips on their income tax returns.

District Director Nathaniel Looker of Columbus said "hundreds of thousands of dollars" a year in income from tips goes unreported in the area serviced by the Columbus internal revenue office.

Looker said the bureau is aware that persons dealing in services probably receive tips. He added: "We want the money; we're not interested in criminal prosecutions except in aggravated cases."

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Judge T.E. Downey granted Margaret M. Williams Melka's motion for dismissal of three civil suits filed against her.

The court agreed with her that the plaintiffs had been less than vigorous in pushing the actions, involving property titles.

The suits were filed in territorial Montana in 1844, 1888 and 1889.

Ike Sees Gains In Heart Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today "there is now the expectation that medical research will lead to greater control of the diseases of the heart."

Eisenhower termed such diseases "one of the major health problems of our time," affecting more than 10 million Americans.

"But in recent years," he said, "some remarkable advances have been made in heart diagnosis and treatment."

'Mad Bomber' Plea Hearing Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — George Metesky's plea to 47 "mad bomber" charges today was postponed until Feb. 21. This is to permit completion of tests to determine whether he is sane.

Postponement of his answer to the mass-count indictment returned by a grand jury was granted by Judge Louis J. Capozzoli at the request of defense counsel James D. C. Murray.

Metesky, smiling as always, was brought into court handcuffed and guarded by a score of detectives.

Eastern Coal Mining Region Hit Hardest

11 Dead Counted; Loss Runs Into Millions; More Havoc Feared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emergency aid was rushed into the eastern coal mining region today where thousands of persons in four states are homeless and whole towns stricken from a devastating flood.

High waters that left at least 11 dead in two states and damages running into untold millions of dollars raced downstream today, threatening havoc on still more communities.

The flood that swept suddenly out of the mountains into southeastern Kentucky, West Virginia, southern Virginia and east Tennessee already was recorded as the region's worst in this century if not in history.

Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia Wednesday night joined Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler in petitioning President Eisenhower for immediate help. Eight of the dead were counted in Kentucky and three in West Virginia.

In Kentucky, Prestonsburg, Paintsville and Beattyville shored up barriers against the onrushing Kentucky River even as mud-covered cities in the flood's wake called for water purifiers and typhoid vaccine.

* * *

AT LEAST A thousand persons fled their homes at Prestonsburg where Wednesday night a fire broke out, destroying three buildings. All firemen could do was let it burn itself out and prevent it from spreading.

The Army at Ft. Knox sent soldiers, medical corps men and supplies to stricken areas with the help of the National Guard, Red Cross and Civil Defense.

Army helicopters dropped through overcast skies to take typhoid serum, medicine, blankets and foods to isolated communities.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Ohio River Division chief engineer, said the worst of the flood in Kentucky is over "if we don't get any more rain."

Col. Smyser said that the big job now is cleaning up, "and it will be terrific." He said the Salvation Army, Red Cross and local agencies are doing a magnificent job in caring for refugees.

AFL-CIO Split Seen Goal Of Trade Unions

The building trades group, claiming about 3 million of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members, suddenly stirred up a long-quiet revolt into a red hot fight against former CIO unions for job rights.

The Teamsters Union, largest AFL-CIO affiliate currently in dutch with Congress for advising its officers they would lose nothing avoiding testimony in labor racket probes, seems to be stirring up the building trades.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, the union's Midwest boss, has been a major figure in most meetings planning the revolt.

Ohio Banks Show Big '56 Growth

COLUMBUS (AP)— Paul Hinkle, state superintendent of banks, reported today that resources of Ohio's 391 banks increased over $107 million in 1956.

There were 397 state and private banks in Ohio on Dec. 31, 1955 with total resources of $5,853,640,782. A year later, Hinkle said, the number of banks had decreased to 391 with resources of $5,961,189,622.

Justice Reed To Quit Seat On Supreme Court Feb. 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, effective Feb. 25. Reed, 72, has served on the nation's highest judicial tribunal 19 years.

The naming of his successor will be Eisenhower's fourth appointee on the Supreme Court. His other appointees are Chief Justice Warren and Justices Harlan and Brennan.

The White House said it had nothing to announce at this time regarding a successor.

Reed turned in a letter of resignation, dated today, saying he wished to retire.

He is taking advantage of a provision of law which allows him to retire at full pay and subject to call for occasional service on the court if this is desired.

The White House indicated that Reed might have let the President know his intentions in advance of submission of the letter. That may have taken place at a White House reception honoring the Supreme Court on Tuesday night.

Eisenhower, in a letter to Reed, said he was taking the opportunity "to tender my congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service."

He also praised Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Reed, a Democrat appointed by President Roosevelt, reached the age of 72 Dec. 31. Present law permits federal judges to retire at 70 after 10 years service on the bench.

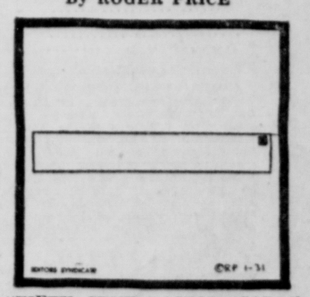

Reed's retirement pay will be $35,000 a year, the same as his salary.

Reed's retirement is the second from the Supreme Court since its new term began last Oct. 1. Justice Sherman Minton retired Oct. 15, because of failing health.

Two other members of the high bench are eligible for retirement, but neither has given any indication that he plans to step down. Justice Black will be 71 on Feb. 27 and Justice Frankfurter was 74 Nov. 15.

"FIFTY CENT POSTAL CARD"

I invented this Postal Card several days ago when I tried to sell it to the Post Office Department they not only turned me down cold but the very next day a man wearing a Grey Uniform came around and nailed my mail slot shut. I wasn't too surprised because I've had trouble with these people before. The first time was in 1943 when they had the nerve not to buy my idea for a Pre-licked Postage Stamp. And in 1954, when I suggested in a letter to the Postmaster General that he could save us Tax payers millions of dollars a year by not wasting money on mail pouches and using Kangaroos to deliver the mail, I was subjected to all sorts of ridicule. Believe me, from now on the U. S. Post Office Dep't will have to get along without my help. Unfortunately, they will.

Senate Plans Long Hearing On Ike's Mid-East Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution faces extensive revision and at least another week of hearings.

The House made only minor changes in passing the measure Wednesday by a 355-61 vote.

The resolution would enable Eisenhower to make up to $200 million available for military and economic aid to the Middle East, and give advance approval for use of U. S. troops to halt overt Communist aggression there.

Contrasting House action with that in the Senate, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said the House's "overwhelming vote, within little more than three weeks after receiving the President's request, is another proof that the so-called lower body of the Congress can act expeditiously and with statesmanship to meet an urgent situation."

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees have been holding joint hearings for the last three weeks.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the latter group said today the hearings will continue at least until the end of next week and possibly into the week following. The committee then must consider amendments before acting on the resolution itself.

The senators heard Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Wednesday and recessed until Friday, when Secretary of State Dulles will return for more questioning.

Several senators reported that Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is working on an extensive rewriting of the resolution designed to meet objections from Democrats.

Colonel Folk emphasized that a Guard enlistee makes himself liable for service rather than trying to evade it. "The Guard encourages a boy to plan his future, not to dodge the draft," he pointed out.

* * *

HE explained that joining the Guard, for instance, allows farmers to discharge their military obligation and still be in the area to carry on in work that is so vital to the country.

The nation, according to Colonel Folk, gets more value out of a man being trained part time for 10 years by the Guard than it does from a two year full-time period of service given by a draftee.

The colonel said:

"We spend $700 a year to train a man against the $10,000 a year the government spends on a draftee. For the last eight years of a boy's training with us, he's the equal of an army draftee."

The Guard commander believes that Secretary Wilson's statement, ironically, will aid the Guard. He said that greater efforts at recruitment will be made because present Guardsmen and former members have been aroused by Wilson's slur on the branch of service.

Colonel Folk said he thought much of the conflict between the Guard and the Defense Department stems from the larger issue of state vs. federal control of military forces.

He explained that although the Guard's primary responsibility is to the national government, units within any state might be summoned into action by order of the state's chief executive.

* * *

WILSON MADE his controversial remark last Monday in a discussion of the Defense Department's order calling for six months active training for Guard recruits. The Guard is resisting the order, which is scheduled to take effect on April 1.

At present an enlistee in the Guard receives two hours drill every week and spends two weeks during the Summer in field training. The Guard favored an 11-week basic military training period instead of the six-month Pentagon plan.

President Eisenhower stated at his weekly press conference Tuesday that he does not share the Secretary's view and that he thought the remark a very unwise one. Wilson, however, repeated his statement and said he saw no reason whatsoever to apologize for it.

At Least 7 Whites Held In Bombings

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — City detectives sought new evidence today in a continuing investigation which has already put at least seven white men in jail for the recent bombings of Negro homes and churches.

Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers announced Wednesday night that "seven or eight" men are being held for the dynamiting of four churches and three dwellings in an outburst of violence following the end of segregation on city buses.

"Several" have signed statements admitting participation in the bombings, he said.

Sellers said that one of the men, identified as Henry Alexander, 27, admitted shooting into a bus.

Arabian Prince Slated For Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors were to examine 3½-year-old Prince Mashhur today to find out what is causing the partial paralysis that has afflicted the young Saudi Arabian since birth.

On President Eisenhower's instructions, the boy was to be examined at Walter Reed Army Hospital. He arrived Wednesday with his father, King Saud, who is on a state visit as Eisenhower's guest.

Partial paralysis affects the prince's right hand and right leg.

King Saud's press secretary said many doctors in Saudi Arabia had examined the prince. The King brought the boy along in hopes American doctors could help.

Taxmen Warning On Income 'Tips'

COLUMBUS (AP)—The district director of internal revenue says his office plans to crack down on persons not reporting tips on their income tax returns.

District Director Nathaniel Looker of Columbus said "hundreds of thousands of dollars" a year in income from tips goes unreported in the area serviced by the Columbus internal revenue office.

Looker said the bureau is aware that persons dealing in services probably receive tips. He added: "We want the money; we're not interested in criminal prosecutions except in aggravated cases."

Defendant Proves To Be Very Patient

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Judge T.E. Downey granted Margaret M. Williams Melka's motion for dismissal of three civil suits filed against her.

The court agreed with her that the plaintiffs had been less than vigorous in pushing the actions, involving property titles.

The suits were filed in territorial Montana in 1844, 1888 and 1889.

Ike Sees Gains In Heart Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today "there is now the expectation that medical research will lead to greater control of the diseases of the heart."

Eisenhower termed such diseases "one of the major health problems of our time," affecting more than 10 million Americans.

"But in recent years," he said, "some remarkable advances have been made in heart diagnosis and treatment."

'Mad Bomber' Plea Hearing Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — George Metesky's plea to 47 "mad bomber" charges today was postponed until Feb. 21. This is to permit completion of tests to determine whether he is sane.

Postponement of his answer to the mass-count indictment returned by a grand jury was granted by Judge Louis J. Capozzoli at the request of defense counsel James D. C. Murray.

Metesky, smiling as always, was brought into court handcuffed and guarded by a score of detectives.

Eastern Coal Mining Region Hit Hardest

11 Dead Counted; Loss Runs Into Millions; More Havoc Feared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emergency aid was rushed into the eastern coal mining region today where thousands of persons in four states are homeless and whole towns stricken from a devastating flood.

High waters that left at least 11 dead in two states and damages running into untold millions of dollars raced downstream today, threatening havoc on still more communities.

The flood that swept suddenly out of the mountains into southeastern Kentucky, West Virginia, southern Virginia and east Tennessee already was recorded as the region's worst in this century if not in history.

Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia Wednesday night joined Kentucky's Gov. A. B. Chandler in petitioning President Eisenhower for immediate help. Eight of the dead were counted in Kentucky and three in West Virginia.

In Kentucky, Prestonsburg, Paintsville and Beattyville shored up barriers against the onrushing Kentucky River even as mud-covered cities in the flood's wake called for water purifiers and typhoid vaccine.

* * *

AT LEAST A thousand persons fled their homes at Prestonsburg where Wednesday night a fire broke out, destroying three buildings. All firemen could do was let it burn itself out and prevent it from spreading.

The Army at Ft. Knox sent soldiers, medical corps men and supplies to stricken areas with the help of the National Guard, Red Cross and Civil Defense.

Army helicopters dropped through overcast skies to take typhoid serum, medicine, blankets and foods to isolated communities.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Ohio River Division chief engineer, said the worst of the flood in Kentucky is over "if we don't get any more rain."

Col. Smyser said that the big job now is cleaning up, "and it will be terrific." He said the Salvation Army, Red Cross and local agencies are doing a magnificent job in caring for refugees.

AFL-CIO Split Seen Goal Of Trade Unions

The building trades group, claiming about 3 million of the AFL-CIO's 15 million members, suddenly stirred up a long-quiet revolt into a red hot fight against former CIO unions for job rights.

The Teamsters Union, largest AFL-CIO affiliate currently in dutch with Congress for advising its officers they would lose nothing avoiding testimony in labor racket probes, seems to be stirring up the building trades.

Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa of Detroit, the union's Midwest boss, has been a major figure in most meetings planning the revolt.

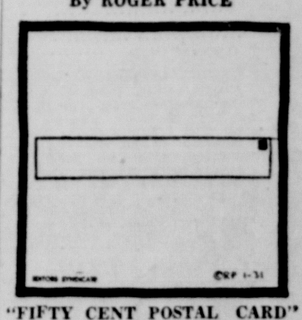

Ohio Banks Show Big '56 Growth

COLUMBUS (AP)— Paul Hinkle, state superintendent of banks, reported today that resources of Ohio's 391 banks increased over $107 million in 1956.

"FIFTY CENT POSTAL CARD"

I invented this Postal Card several days ago when I tried to sell it to the Post Office Department they not only turned me down cold but the very next day a man wearing a Grey Uniform came around and nailed my mail slot shut. I wasn't too surprised because I've had trouble with these people before. The first time was in 1943 when they had the nerve not to buy my idea for a Pre-licked Postage Stamp. And in 1954, when I suggested in a letter to the Postmaster General that he could save us Tax payers millions of dollars a year by not wasting money on mail pouches and using Kangaroos to deliver the mail, I was subjected to all sorts of ridicule. Believe me, from now on the U. S. Post Office Dep't will have to get along without my help. Unfortunately, they will.

Justice Reed To Quit Seat On Supreme Court Feb. 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, effective Feb. 25. Reed, 72, has served on the nation's highest judicial tribunal 19 years.

The naming of his successor will be Eisenhower's fourth appointee on the Supreme Court. His other appointees are Chief Justice Warren and Justices Harlan and Brennan.

The White House said it had nothing to announce at this time regarding a successor.

Reed turned in a letter of resignation, dated today, saying he wished to retire.

He is taking advantage of a provision of law which allows him to retire at full pay and subject to call for occasional service on the court if this is desired.

The White House indicated that Reed might have let the President know his intentions in advance of submission of the letter. That may have taken place at a White House reception honoring the Supreme Court on Tuesday night.

Eisenhower, in a letter to Reed, said he was taking the opportunity "to tender my congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service."

He also praised Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Reed, a Democrat appointed by President Roosevelt, reached the age of 72 Dec. 31. Present law permits federal judges to retire at 70 after 10 years service on the bench.

Reed's retirement pay will be $35,000 a year, the same as his salary.

Reed's retirement is the second from the Supreme Court since its new term began last Oct. 1. Justice Sherman Minton retired Oct. 15, because of failing health.

Two other members of the high bench are eligible for retirement, but neither has given any indication that he plans to step down. Justice Black will be 71 on Feb. 27 and Justice Frankfurter was 74 Nov. 15.

Senate Plans Long Hearing On Ike's Mid-East Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution faces extensive revision and at least another week of hearings.

The House made only minor changes in passing the measure Wednesday by a 355-61 vote.

The resolution would enable Eisenhower to make up to $200 million available for military and economic aid to the Middle East, and give advance approval for use of U. S. troops to halt overt Communist aggression there.

Contrasting House action with that in the Senate, Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said the House's "overwhelming vote, within little more than three weeks after receiving the President's request, is another proof that the so-called lower body of the Congress can act expeditiously and with statesmanship to meet an urgent situation."

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees have been holding joint hearings for the last three weeks.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the latter group said today the hearings will continue at least until the end of next week and possibly into the week following. The committee then must consider amendments before acting on the resolution itself.

The senators heard Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, Wednesday and recessed until Friday, when Secretary of State Dulles will return for more questioning.

Several senators reported that Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is working on an extensive rewriting of the resolution designed to meet objections from Democrats.

tended from Knoxville to Barbourville and was made by auto.

Col. Smyser said that the flash floods draining from the three basin areas—the Cumberland, Kentucky and Big Sandy rivers—will not endanger Ohio River cities.

At Harlan, Ky., he said there has been $1 million worth of damage. Approximately 1,000 persons were made homeless.

At Barbourville, Ky., damage was estimated at $750,000, with approximately 500 homeless.

* * *

COL. SMYSER said work had just begun this month on a levy to protect Barbourville. It had been delayed 14 months because of objections by land owners.

"We could have had it built by now," Col. Smyser said, "if we had been able to go ahead."

Swirling waters, ranging in depth from one foot to more than 10, for 18 hours unleashed their fury on the downtown section of the mountain community of 7,000.

During those hours, a fire cost the lives of an elderly couple who had taken refuge in another home. About 65 other persons who had been given shelter there escaped. Drownings took three lives.

Slight Hike Noted In Farmer Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A slight new boost in farm prices has raised the mid-January level to 5 per cent above a year ago.

The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that average prices of farm products rose four-tenths of 1 per cent between mid-December and Jan. 15.

It also reported that prices paid by farmers reached a new high during that same period, rising two-thirds of 1 per cent. The mid-January level of prices paid by farmers was 3.7 per cent above that of a year ago.

Metal Price Fluctuations Under Study

Scrap Tags Tumble While Finished Items Prove More Costly

NEW YORK (AP)—Cross currents in prices and demand are running through the metals industries today—and in turn eddying through the stock market.

Steel scrap prices tumble while finished steel product prices continue to edge higher. Demand for some steel products holds strong as ever, while for others it softens.

Copper men cite a wide gap in prices asked for the metal around the world while producers' supplies pile up. And copper product makers worry over a drop in new orders. Prices soften for copper and scrap and for brass and bronze ingots.

Aluminum supply at last catches up with demand and its makers seek new markets and new uses.

Lead and zinc look largely to Uncle Sam's stockpiling purchase to hold them firm.

Most steelmen insist that 1957 will be a good year for them. Production has been holding near capacity for months and total orders seem to indicate it will for some time to come.

Copper men point out that over the years copper has usually followed the trend in steel—since they share many of the same customers, such as autos, appliances, construction. And the copper men say that the present lull for them could be short lived.

But both steel and copper men watch the scrap market as a frequent good barometer. Often when scrap prices turn soft, metal production may be in for some slackening.

Steel mills have been watching mostly the drop in demand for their product by the auto companies. Like the car makers they are waiting to see how strong is the traditional spring rise in demand for autos.

Disturbed by report of slackening demand for distant deliveries, stock traders have been bidding down shares prices of some metals firms.

There has been no slackening in demand reported for structural steel or for the heavy plates that go into ship building and freight car building. Announced plans for continued business spending on expansion and plans for still more office buildings hearten this segment of the steel industry.

These plans and the expansion program of the electric utilities are cited by the copper men as assuring them a fair market, even if the auto and appliance industries don't perk up as much in the spring as hoped.

Attorney Dies During Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland attorney, Theodore T. Sindell, 51, died of a heart attack Wednesday during a trial in common pleas court. He went into the chambers of Judge J. P. Corrigan after completing cross examination of a witness in a $75,000 automobile accident damage suit.

The witness, a doctor, pronounced him dead a few minutes later after a bailiff found him slumped in a chair at the judge's desk. Judge Corrigan declared a mistrial and dismissed the jury.

And Now Mrs. Wilson Joins Hassle Over Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Wilson says President Eisenhower made "uncalled for" remarks in saying her husband, the secretary of defense, made a "very unwise statement" about some National Guardsmen.

Eisenhower made the comment Wednesday when asked about Wilson's statement that some of those enlisted in the Guard during the Korean War dodged the draft.

Eisenhower, while calling this unwise, said he agrees with Wilson that all new Guard recruits should take six months of active basic training.

Mrs. Wilson described herself as indignant at the President's comment, and she continued:

"I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson, instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles has been."

"I think you need a little pat on the back once in a while," Mrs. Wilson said. "Mr. Wilson has been trying to do a good job, and I think he has done a good job.

"I think Foster Dulles is a good man, too, but I don't think he has done any better than a lot of other men. I am frank in saying that."

Describing her husband as "a blunt man," Mrs. Wilson said: "He speaks what he thinks. He more or less always has. Most of the time what he thinks is true."

Meantime, Wilson was invited to appear as the opening witness Monday at a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing on all reserve programs, including the Guard.

Chairman Brooks (D-La) said Wilson was invited to "give the subcommittee an elaboration on your views concerning the National Guard, the role the members of that organization have played in the past and what may be expected of them in the future."

Akron Deputy May Become Millionaire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Frederick H. Hale, 28, a Summit County deputy sheriff, stands a good chance to inherit an estate valued at a million dollars left by his foster mother, Mrs. Lillian G. Hale, 76, who died Tuesday.

Attorney Cletus G. Roetzel said Tuesday night that the $335-a-month deputy is the sole heir at law despite the existence of two wills. The atorney said he had no part in preparing either will and declined to discuss them.

Mrs. Hale was the widow of John Hale, a development engineer for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., who died in 1950.

Young Hale already has received three awards of $10,000 each from the estate as the result of a probate court order in 1954. The court set up a guardian for the estate two years earlier because Mrs. Hale was physically disabled.

The estate was valued at $500,000 at that time. It consisted mainly of stocks which have virtually doubled in value.

UAW Conference Due In Sandusky

TOLEDO (AP)—The 19th annual conference of Region 2-B, United Auto Workers Union, opens Saturday in Sandusky and registrations indicate it will rank among the biggest regional UAW conventions. Some 300 delegates from northwestern Ohio are due.

Charles Ballard, regional director, said interest in the two-day meeting is strong because of a proposed dues increase, a change in the status of skilled trades workers in UAW negotiations and a scheduled outline of bargaining goals for 1958 contracts.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, will speak Sunday.

Designer John S. Attinello said the design would enable a large jet-powered transport plane to rise or descend almost vertically, operating from tiny landing strips only about twice as long as the aircraft themselves. He spoke before the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences.

Italy's Opera In Hands Of Economist

ROME (AP)—A pudgy, bald-headed lawyer with an engaging grin held the future of Italy's opera houses in his hands today—and the entire nation of opera lovers waited on his decision.

Adone Zoli, 59-year-old budget minister who sits in the Senate for Florence, Italy's city of the arts, wants to chop nearly one-quarter off the national subsidy to the citadels of song.

If he does, his opponents say, the entire musical future of Italy may be endangered. Orchestras will be fired and singers laid off, and it may never be possible to bring them together again.

Not true, Zoli reports. He claims that top-line stars are overpaid for their brief exertions on the stage, and that managements could save money in many ways without interfering with the quality of performances.

But Zoli, who once was sentenced to death by Mussolini's Fascists for sticking to his own forthright views, will have a hard fight on this issue.

This time, instead of a possible firing squad, he faces the combined opposition of a nation of music lovers—a nation where the postman whistles "rock 'n' roll" on the way up the street, and Verdi's "Aida" on the way down.

The mayors of Italy's 12 big opera cities called on Zoli in force after deliberating in Rome for days on the threat to the lyric theater.

They told him that if he insists on trimming the national opera subsidy from 6 million dollars to $4,200,000, he may well be signing the death warrant of the singing drama in Italy.

Eastern Coal Mining Region Hit Hardest

tended from Knoxville to Barbourville and was made by auto.

Col. Smyser said that the flash floods draining from the three basin areas—the Cumberland, Kentucky and Big Sandy rivers—will not endanger Ohio River cities.

At Harlan, Ky., he said there has been $1 million worth of damage. Approximately 1,000 persons were made homeless.

At Barbourville, Ky., damage was estimated at $750,000, with approximately 500 homeless.

* * *

COL. SMYSER said work had just begun this month on a levy to protect Barbourville. It had been delayed 14 months because of objections by land owners.

"We could have had it built by now," Col. Smyser said, "if we had been able to go ahead."

Swirling waters, ranging in depth from one foot to more than 10, for 18 hours unleashed their fury on the downtown section of the mountain community of 7,000.

During those hours, a fire cost the lives of an elderly couple who had taken refuge in another home. About 65 other persons who had been given shelter there escaped. Drownings took three lives.

Two Indicted By Grand Jurors Put On Probation

Two men indicted by the January term grand jury were placed on probation in hearings held yesterday in Common Pleas Court.

Charles Jackson, accused of breaking and entering an uninhabited building in the night season and grand larceny, was placed on probation for three years.

Life Sentence Given Robber

HAMILTON (AP) — George Duncan, 48, of Middletown, was sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday after being convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and rape.

Common Pleas Judge Fred B. Cramer pronounced sentence. Duncan was accused of raping a Middletown woman last Sept. 23 and robbing her of about $100.

More Coal Seen

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's 1956 coal production should rise to between 39 and 40 million tons, Hugh D. Wait, acting director of the state industrial relations department, said oday.

Slight Hike Noted In Farmer Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A slight new boost in farm prices has raised the mid-January level to 5 per cent above a year ago.

The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that average prices of farm products rose four-tenths of 1 per cent between mid-December and Jan. 15.

It also reported that prices paid by farmers reached a new high during that same period, rising two-thirds of 1 per cent. The mid-January level of prices paid by farmers was 3.7 per cent above that of a year ago.

Metal Price Fluctuations Under Study

Scrap Tags Tumble While Finished Items Prove More Costly

NEW YORK (AP)—Cross currents in prices and demand are running through the metals industries today—and in turn eddying through the stock market.

Steel scrap prices tumble while finished steel product prices continue to edge higher. Demand for some steel products holds strong as ever, while for others it softens.

Copper men cite a wide gap in prices asked for the metal around the world while producers' supplies pile up. And copper product makers worry over a drop in new orders. Prices soften for copper and scrap and for brass and bronze ingots.

Aluminum supply at last catches up with demand and its makers seek new markets and new uses.

Lead and zinc look largely to Uncle Sam's stockpiling purchase to hold them firm.

Most steelmen insist that 1957 will be a good year for them. Production has been holding near capacity for months and total orders seem to indicate it will for some time to come.

Copper men point out that over the years copper has usually followed the trend in steel—since they share many of the same customers, such as autos, appliances, construction. And the copper men say that the present lull for them could be short lived.

But both steel and copper men watch the scrap market as a frequent good barometer. Often when scrap prices turn soft, metal production may be in for some slackening.

Steel mills have been watching mostly the drop in demand for their product by the auto companies. Like the car makers they are waiting to see how strong is the traditional spring rise in demand for autos.

Disturbed by report of slackening demand for distant deliveries, stock traders have been bidding down shares prices of some metals firms.

There has been no slackening in demand reported for structural steel or for the heavy plates that go into ship building and freight car building. Announced plans for continued business spending on expansion and plans for still more office buildings hearten this segment of the steel industry.

These plans and the expansion program of the electric utilities are cited by the copper men as assuring them a fair market, even if the auto and appliance industries don't perk up as much in the spring as hoped.

Attorney Dies During Hearing

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland attorney, Theodore T. Sindell, 51, died of a heart attack Wednesday during a trial in common pleas court. He went into the chambers of Judge J. P. Corrigan after completing cross examination of a witness in a $75,000 automobile accident damage suit.

The witness, a doctor, pronounced him dead a few minutes later after a bailiff found him slumped in a chair at the judge's desk. Judge Corrigan declared a mistrial and dismissed the jury.

And Now Mrs. Wilson Joins Hassle Over Defense Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Wilson says President Eisenhower made "uncalled for" remarks in saying her husband, the secretary of defense, made a "very unwise statement" about some National Guardsmen.

Eisenhower made the comment Wednesday when asked about Wilson's statement that some of those enlisted in the Guard during the Korean War dodged the draft.

Eisenhower, while calling this unwise, said he agrees with Wilson that all new Guard recruits should take six months of active basic training.

Mrs. Wilson described herself as indignant at the President's comment, and she continued:

"I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson, instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles has been."

"I think you need a little pat on the back once in a while," Mrs. Wilson said. "Mr. Wilson has been trying to do a good job, and I think he has done a good job.

"I think Foster Dulles is a good man, too, but I don't think he has done any better than a lot of other men. I am frank in saying that."

Describing her husband as "a blunt man," Mrs. Wilson said: "He speaks what he thinks. He more or less always has. Most of the time what he thinks is true."

Meantime, Wilson was invited to appear as the opening witness Monday at a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing on all reserve programs, including the Guard.

Chairman Brooks (D-La) said Wilson was invited to "give the subcommittee an elaboration on your views concerning the National Guard, the role the members of that organization have played in the past and what may be expected of them in the future."

Akron Deputy May Become Millionaire

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Frederick H. Hale, 28, a Summit County deputy sheriff, stands a good chance to inherit an estate valued at a million dollars left by his foster mother, Mrs. Lillian G. Hale, 76, who died Tuesday.

Attorney Cletus G. Roetzel said Tuesday night that the $335-a-month deputy is the sole heir at law despite the existence of two wills. The atorney said he had no part in preparing either will and declined to discuss them.

Mrs. Hale was the widow of John Hale, a development engineer for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., who died in 1950.

Young Hale already has received three awards of $10,000 each from the estate as the result of a probate court order in 1954. The court set up a guardian for the estate two years earlier because Mrs. Hale was physically disabled.

The estate was valued at $500,000 at that time. It consisted mainly of stocks which have virtually doubled in value.

UAW Conference Due In Sandusky

TOLEDO (AP)—The 19th annual conference of Region 2-B, United Auto Workers Union, opens Saturday in Sandusky and registrations indicate it will rank among the biggest regional UAW conventions. Some 300 delegates from northwestern Ohio are due.

Charles Ballard, regional director, said interest in the two-day meeting is strong because of a proposed dues increase, a change in the status of skilled trades workers in UAW negotiations and a scheduled outline of bargaining goals for 1958 contracts.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, will speak Sunday.

New Jet Engine Utilizes Exhaust

NEW YORK (AP) — A jet airliner design which would spread the engine exhaust all along the trailing edge of the wing, to provide lifting power as well as forward thrust, was outlined to the nation's scientists Wednesday.

Designer John S. Attinello said the design would enable a large jet-powered transport plane to rise or descend almost vertically, operating from tiny landing strips only about twice as long as the aircraft themselves. He spoke before the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any future criticism of Secretary of State Dulles for his handling of foreign affairs must include President Eisenhower. Eisenhower has taken equal responsibility for whatever Dulles has done.

That's covering a lot of ground.

Nevertheless, in the midst of the worst attack on Dulles in his four years in office, Eisenhower has not only put his arm around him but has opened his personal umbrella over him.

Eisenhower was practically forced into it.

In the past few weeks, some Senate Democrats have opened up on Dulles almost violently, even to the point of suggesting he quit. As members of an opposition political party they had been almost strangely mild in their criticism for four years.

But American Allies abroad have been blasting Dulles for his handling of problems in the Middle East. Eisenhower had three choices: get rid of Dulles, back him up, or stay silent.

But if he kept quiet, friends and foes at home and abroad could interpret it as a form of Presidential criticism or, worse for American foreign policy, weakness in the White House. Either way this country's foreign relations would suffer.

Eisenhower apparently was bothered by things being said about Dulles — and through Dulles, about the administration's handling of foreign affairs — for he went out of his way at a luncheon with senators Tuesday to praise his secretary.

He was given his chance to elaborate at his news conference Wednesday when a reporter reminded the President he had once called Dulles the best secretary in our time and asked him if he still felt the same way.

Eisenhower said he stood on that. But he then went further, saying Dulles has a "wisdom and experience and knowledge (in foreign affairs) that I think is possessed by no man — no other man in the world."

And he took one more step by telling the world indirectly that any criticism of Dulles should include Eisenhower, for he said:

"Secretary Dulles, to the best of my knowledge and belief — and I keep, I assure you, very close touch — has never taken any action which I have not in advance approved."

The word "action" in this sense would, it seems, have to include what has often appeared like a lack of action and a change in tactics.

For example, Dulles had years to prepare a plan, along with this country's British and French allies, to prevent the Communists from taking over Indochina.

But when the collapse of Indochina was imminent, Dulles had no plan and at that last moment went racing off to Europe to see if he could get joint action from the allies.

When Dulles dawdled on giving Egypt arms until President Nasser bought them from Russia, that, too, was an action.

It was also an action when Dulles not only refused Nasser money for the Aswan Dam but also unnecessarily belittled the ability of Egypt to pay its bills. Nasser within a week after that seized the Suez Canal and the Middle East was in turmoil.

It was also an action when, trying to find a way out of the canal seizure, Dulles talked in terms of a strong plan — called the users association — before setting out for Britain. Once there, he toned down his plan until it was meaningless. And his performance there infuriated Britain and France.

The Democrats who have refrained from criticism of Eisenhower may now feel free, as they pursue their criticism of Dulles, to start attacking the President.

University Prexy Protocol Decided

TOLEDO (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce has solved a protocol problem which arose after it invited two university presidents to speak at its 63rd annual banquet next Wednesday evening.

The question was:

Who gets to talk first, President Harlan Hatcher of the University of Michigan or President Novice G. Fawcett of Ohio State?

A device used when the two schools meet in football games provided the answer.

When the dinner opens, Banquet Chairman E. C. Ames will flip a coin.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef, in a wide range of cuts, will be a bargain in many food markets the next few days.

The cut may be anything from chuck roast, or ground beef, to rib or round roast, or even a sirloin or porterhouse steak.

The fancier cuts currently are not as fancy, price-wise, as they once were. The two top grades of choice and prime beef are taken from corn-fed cattle, and farmers were fattening up 4 per cent more such critters at the start of the year. This promises a steady flow of juicy, tender steaks and roasts for several months.

The increased number of cattle being corn fed is attributed largely to a bumper corn crop last year plus drought conditions in the Southwest. Ranchers there are reducing their herds, providing more cattle for finish-feeding on grain.

Other types of specials will be featured, too. Fish, for example, is more numerous on the bargain counter now, with Cod, Tuna, Halibut, Haddock, Bluefish, Smelts and Flounder all mentioned.

Turkeys and veal cuts also will be featured in some stores, with lamb, ham, pork and chicken bargains more widely scattered.

Chicken prices are reported two to four cents higher in many places, but this is generally regarded as only temporary, for farmers are expected to raise nearly a billion and a half broilers this year, 10 per cent more than 1956's record.

Eggs, too, are a penny or two higher in some places, but here again expectations are for record supplies of eggs this year.

Cabbage from nearby fields, Maine and Long Island potatoes, onions and the root crops such as beets, carrots, parsnips and white turnips all are regarded as outstanding buys by produce men this week.

Iceberg lettuce from Western fields, broccoli, celery, peppers, sweet potatoes and new cabbage from Southern and Western patches are labelled good buys.

Corn and tomatoes are coming down in price, but the condition of the latter is generally irregular. Recent heavy rains in Florida have sent bean prices up.

The citrus big three—oranges, grapefruit and tangerines—again head the best buy list at fruit counters, although a little higher than last week.

Seaman's Sentence Shaved By Judge

COLUMBUS (AP)—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood has reduced the sentence of a 21-year-old Greek seaman from six months to 60 days.

The seaman, Nicolaos Papaplakas,, was convicted of overstaying his landing permit after leaving his ship in Philadelphia.

Judge Underwood also took under advisement a plea for reduction of sentence for Dr. James K. Nealon, 53, of Newark, Ohio.

Dr. Nealon, an urologist, was sentenced to 15 months in jail on charges of evading nearly $14,000 in federal income taxes.

State Building, Loan Chief Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill Wednesday appointed Theodore F. Burdsall as superintendent of the state Building and Loan Division.

Burdsall, 35, who lives in Deer Park, a Cincinnati suburb, will begin his new duties Friday.

Benson M. Smith, the former superintendent, resigned Oct. 8 and M. J. Dziamba of Columbus served as acting superintendent.

U.S. Corporate Profits Show Belated Bounce

Last Quarter Of '56 Reveals 6.5 Pct. Hike Over Previous Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The bounce back in profits after the summer slump is giving a healthier glow today to many corporate reports.

The first 90 corporations to publish their net incomes after taxes for the fourth quarter of 1956 show a combined gain of 6.5 per cent over the October, November and December period of 1955. Two out of three increased earnings over a year ago. And only three operated at a loss.

For many of the firms the fourth quarter prosperity offset a third quarter decline and allowed them to report a net gain for the entire year.

The percentage of increase over the previous year, however, usually was considerably smaller than 1955's jumped over 1954.

And the average 1956 fourth quarter spread over the similar 1955 period was noticeably smaller than the percentage of increase chalked up in the first three months of last year.

The summer slump in profits mostly hit firms affected directly or indirectly by the steel strike and the production cuts in the auto and farm machinery industries.

The bounce back in the final three months of the year was most apparent in these same categories.

For business as a whole there is still evident the squeeze on profits traced to rising costs of labor and materials, and to little if any gain in productivity — the amount of goods produced per man hour of labor.

Some companies with rising sales volume and higher prices for their own products have been able to offset the increased costs and keep their profit charts still pointed toward the ceiling. Bu many others have seen the curve level off if not droop toward the floor.

The first 90 corporations to report had combined net incomes of $510,490,432, which was 6.5 per cent higher than the $478,921,804 the same 90 reported for the final months of 1955.

Utilities, as a class, showed better gains than the average. Best gains among the industrials are reported by the booming steel and oil industries. Banks, which are not included in the 90, report considerably better gains than the average for the 90.

Blood In Auto Labeled Human

COLUMBUS (AP) — Police say it was human blood that was found on the front seat of an abandoned auto belonging to a missing Lakewood salesman.

Raynbert J. Albert, 40, is the salesman who has been missing since Jan. 17, when he failed to keep a business appointment in Columbus.

His car was found abandoned here last Friday night with the keys in the ignition switch and bent metal-rimmed eye glasses in the front seat.

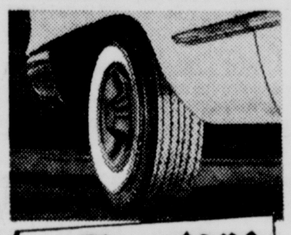

Airport-Leasing Authority Asked

COLUMBUS (AP) — Rep. Loretta Woods (R-Scioto) has introduced a bill in the Ohio House authorizing counties to lease airports for 20 years.

Mrs. Woods said statute limits such leases to one year.

She said her measure would make the leasing authority of county commissioners comparable to that of municipalities for airports.

U.S. Corporate Profits Show Belated Bounce

Last Quarter Of '56 Reveals 6.5 Pct. Hike Over Previous Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The bounce back in profits after the summer slump is giving a healthier glow today to many corporate reports.

The first 90 corporations to publish their net incomes after taxes for the fourth quarter of 1956 show a combined gain of 6.5 per cent over the October, November and December period of 1955. Two out of three increased earnings over a year ago. And only three operated at a loss.

For many of the firms the fourth quarter prosperity offset a third quarter decline and allowed them to report a net gain for the entire year.

The percentage of increase over the previous year, however, usually was considerably smaller than 1955's jumped over 1954.

And the average 1956 fourth quarter spread over the similar 1955 period was noticeably smaller than the percentage of increase chalked up in the first three months of last year.

The summer slump in profits mostly hit firms affected directly or indirectly by the steel strike and the production cuts in the auto and farm machinery industries.

The bounce back in the final three months of the year was most apparent in these same categories.

For business as a whole there is still evident the squeeze on profits traced to rising costs of labor and materials, and to little if any gain in productivity — the amount of goods produced per man hour of labor.

Some companies with rising sales volume and higher prices for their own products have been able to offset the increased costs and keep their profit charts still pointed toward the ceiling. Bu many others have seen the curve level off if not droop toward the floor.

The first 90 corporations to report had combined net incomes of $510,490,432, which was 6.5 per cent higher than the $478,921,804 the same 90 reported for the final months of 1955.

Utilities, as a class, showed better gains than the average. Best gains among the industrials are reported by the booming steel and oil industries. Banks, which are not included in the 90, report considerably better gains than the average for the 90.

Blood In Auto Labeled Human

COLUMBUS (AP) — Police say it was human blood that was found on the front seat of an abandoned auto belonging to a missing Lakewood salesman.

Raynbert J. Albert, 40, is the salesman who has been missing since Jan. 17, when he failed to keep a business appointment in Columbus.

Airport-Leasing Authority Asked

COLUMBUS (AP) — Rep. Loretta Woods (R-Scioto) has introduced a bill in the Ohio House authorizing counties to lease airports for 20 years.

Mrs. Woods said statute limits such leases to one year.

She said her measure would make the leasing authority of county commissioners comparable to that of municipalities for airports.

MONTH OF WAITING

TIME DRAGS its feet in February. The days are longer than in November, when the leaves have fallen but Winter defers its coming—longer than in August, that month when the Summer begins to die and the earth seems to spin more slowly on its axis. Sometimes it seems that February will never pass and let March bring in the greening grass.

The Romans, who devised the calendar, knew this same hunger for Spring at this time of year. Early in their history they counted only 10 months, leaving a gap of some 60 days between the end of one year and the beginning of the next. In time they added January and February, but they made February short. They gave all the other months 31 days, 30 or 29. They allotted ony 28 to Februarius.

Their calendar was imperfect still. It left them extra days to account for somehow, to make their year fit the unvarying habit of the sun, but apparently they wanted to avoid a longer February. Every second year they stopped the month at the 23rd, threw in the surplus days as a "mensis intercalaria" they called Mercedonius, and then started again with February 24.

Somehow, despite them, the month gained a day. It had 29 days when Julius Caesar reformed the calendar. He kept it there by ordering February 23 repeated once every four years. Then, when Augustus had to have a month as long as Julius', he took the needed day from February. Nobody minded much then and nobody has cared much since, so February has 28 days three years out of four.

Perhaps the reason calendar reformers have not made much progress is that they want February to be the same length as other months. For thousands of years men have insisted on having this month of waiting kept shorter than the others. They may never be persuaded that it is not too long already.

USING TWO-PRICE SYSTEM

BACK IN THE 1920's, with farm surpluses accumulating, the farm bloc in Congress pushed through a two-price system by which surpluses were to be sold abroad at whatever price they would bring while propping the price of that portion of major crops domestically consumed. The White House vetoed it.

During his years in Congress former Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas devoted much of his effort to trying to get the two-price system adopted. He did not succeed.

Now what is essentially the two-price system is in effect. The federal government has been making deals with friendly powers by which a large volume of surpluses is being disposed of abroad at a fraction of the cost. This is being done under several programs. Reserves stored by the government are still huge but are getting lower.

Now the way is open for further application of the two-price system. The red satellites, stymied by bad weather and political unrest, need imported grain and cotton. Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and other sare in dire need of food and fiber.

Should they be allowed to stew in their unrest, thus hastening the end of red despotism, or should their distress be alleviated and U. S. farm surpluses reduced? These are questions about which the public will hear more soon.

The answers given by Congress and the administration may depend on public sentiment as it is aroused by the discussions.

American aid to Asia will build up rapidly, according to a Washington dispatch. The Good Old Days were those in which AAA stood for Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Politics ought to be a means not an end. The politician, once he is chosen, ought to attempt to do something more than to serve his own ambitions, to promote his friends or to fight his enemies. It would seem that the weakness of the republican form of government lies in the sacrifice of all other considerations to the perpetuation of political cliques in power with the result that great ends are sacrificed for small means.

To an astonishing degree the prime manipulators of political power are some who came in during the latter days of Roosevelt, who survived during the Truman regime, who expanded and blossomed during the first Eisenhower Administration and who are still on hand. Such political handy-men never run for public office; they never submit themselves to the people's judgment. They achieve success by friendship, by doing favors, by making contracts for favors, and by collecting campaign funds.

Their greatest strength is in knowing many people in all parts of the country and even in other countries and in always engaging in the art of bringing those together who can be useful to each other, even if they are harmful to the country. For instance, a large number of generals in the last war were placed in lucrative, even enriching positions as soon as they could get out of the army. Some of them are now so well fixed that they are even powerful in the business and political world. This placement job had to be done by a Wall Street political banker, astute, experienced, hard-boiled, who strengthened his own position by winning the undying gratitude of these distinguished but low salaried generals.

True, these are experienced men whose services are valuable, but the placement problem up at the top is always difficult and the good-fellow who knows how to do it without fuss is worth a great deal in a political organization. He comes to be regarded as an exceedingly wise person and before long, it is overlooked that he may be serving some interests of his own.

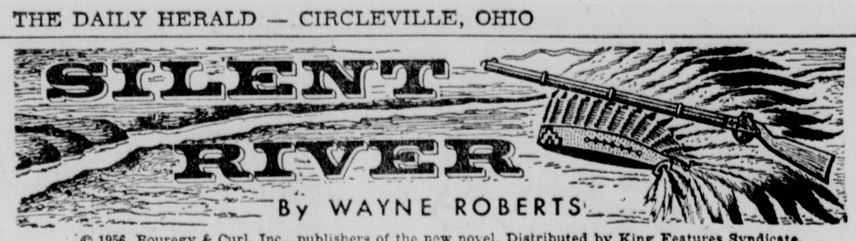

The 22nd Amendment to the Constitution raised the issue of the 1960 Republican Convention the day Mr. Eisenhower was elected. He cannot succeed himself and these political bankers and their adjutants got busy even before San Francisco looking for a successor.

The "Dump Nixon Movement" was an outgrowth of that and its engineers fled from Harold Stassen as soon as they knew that Nixon could not be dumped. However, they would not mind dumping him any time they got the chance, as they would prefer a candidate of their own, one bound to them by friendship and gratitude.

It is a little coterie that plays politics all the time, even in the selection of United States Senators and judges of various courts. It is a group so without principle that while its private interests are ultra-conservative, it unites with so-called liberals and left-wingers, with Democrats or Republicans, with anybody that can be made grateful.

It does not require a man to be principled or patriotic; it only requires that he accepts favors and shows his gratitude for them.

CHAPTER 18

THE Red Nymph was the last boat downriver from Fort Blaine. There was a lengthy dispatch in the Fort Butterfield mail bag from Colonel Randall to General Sherman. He read the last paragraph twice.

As you know, General, it is not uncommon for a man going into battle to have a premonition of disaster. In a way we are going into battle. This dispatch will go down the Missouri on the last boat. When you receive it, the river will be frozen, our slow but sole avenue of communication with you completely blocked. Here we are, a handful of soldiers surrounded by hostiles and a naked land. If the savages do not get us, the winter surely will. We can expect no help from Fort Blaine. The traders there would like nothing better than to see us murdered and our post wiped out. They frankly tell us that our presence this far up the river has made the Indians uneasy and has seriously hampered their trading. I can understand their attitude. On the other hand, I cannot understand the attitude of a penny-pinching Congress and a selfish and ungrateful public that insists we keep the river open so the wealth from the Montana mines can move downstream in order that the rich may become still richer. I need more men and better arms, and most of all, horses. I can think of nothing more futile than to ask foot soldiers to fight Indians who are always well mounted. I have a strong feeling that none of us will be alive next spring when the river breaks up. If we are not, I can at least hope that our deaths will force a change in the nation's Indian policy. Perhaps I will be remembered as the officer who built Fort Butterfield and who died when it was destroyed.

Respectfully submitted,
Benjamin K. Randall,
Brevet Colonel, Fifteenth Infantry.

Randall had said nothing about the Peace Commission and its fiasco. He had not mentioned Chad Endicott or the scout, Zack Cubberly. Sherman had listened to Arbuthnot's complaints, but he wished Randall had given the other side of the story.

There was much in what Randall had to say about a penny-pinching Congress and an ungrateful public, but there was nothing new about Randall's situation. He had known that when he'd begged for the assignment. Sherman had no sympathy for him. But Chad Endicott . . . and the seventy men under Randall.

Sherman thought of Elizabeth Tipton. She would certainly have received a letter from Chad. The General left his office. He stepped into a carriage and gave the address of the Tipton residence, his mind on the Indian problem. A sufficiently large force of mounted men, armed with the new Henry sixteen-shot repeaters, could make the plains safe for whites in less than a year.

Therein lay the stupidity of the whole business. The Bureau of Indian Affairs had money to buy presents for savages and to hire men like Arbuthnot; but the army, cut down to a skeleton force and a skeleton budget, could not send enough soldiers to man a frontier post.

When the carriage reached the Tipton house, Elizabeth opened the door. "General Sherman!" she exclaimed, surprised when she saw who it was. "Come in."

He stepped into the hall. "How is your father?" he asked.

"Father isn't well, General," she said. "He's been in bed for a week. Come on upstairs to his room. He'll be awfully glad to see you."

"Elizabeth, I'm going to ask you a question which is none of my business," Sherman said slowly, "and if you don't want to tell me, just come out and say so. I know Lieutenant Endicott quite well. But I don't need to tell you what I think of him. I was wondering if you've had a letter from him recently."

"Yes. One came today." She hesitated.

Sherman said quickly, "You can tell me what I want to know. Did he say anything about some Indian trouble that involved a peace commission?"

She nodded. "He said it was a little touchy for a while, and they owed their lives to the scout. He said he told one of the commissioners after it was over that he he was an incompetent jackass. It won't hurt Chad's career, will it?"

"If I can arrange it, I'll see that he's promoted to captain next year on the basis of what you just told me." He cleared his throat. "Did he indicate any concern about getting through the winter?"

"No."

He followed her up the stairs to Tipton's room. "General Sherman's here, Father."

Tipton was propped up in bed, reading. Pleasure showed on his gaunt face as he held out his hand. "Well, this is fine. What ever brought you out on a day like this, General?"

Sherman shook his hand and pulled up a chair. "Just thought I'd find out why you liked your bed so well."

"I'm lazy." Tipton laughed. "Just hound-dog lazy."

Sherman looked around and saw Elizabeth had gone. "You know, Tip, that girl of yours is a dandy. Endicott should have married her before he left last spring."

"She wanted to," Tipton said, "but Chad's kind of funny. I know how he feels, though. Felt the same way myself when I was a pup; but when you get older, you find out that life's so short you regret every day or hour that you weren't with your woman when you had a chance."

Sherman nodded, looking at Tipton's parchment-like skin pulled tightly over the bones of his face.

"I'll see that Elizabeth is on the first boat that goes up the river next spring."

"She'll want to go." Tipton tapped his book with a bony fist, frowning. "After Chad left last spring, Alvin Stiner dropped in one evening and told me he loved Elizabeth but he wouldn't mention it to her as long as Chad was alive. She was moping around the house like a weeping widow and I persuaded her to go out with Alvin once in a while. Just for a buggy drive or Sunday dinner. Last month he took her to the opening of the St. Louis Opera House on Fifth Street."

"You're wrong, Tip," Sherman said quietly. "I suppose Stiner is all right, but he isn't the man Endicott is. Right now, I wish Endicott was in command instead of Randall." He held out his hand. "I've got to go, Tip. Don't think you have to get back on the job until you feel like it."

She unloaded two huge bags of groceries on the kitchen table, cast a tired glance over the scattered evidences of baby formula, sighed, brushed back a loose hair, moved into the living room, collapsed in a chair and reached for a cigaret when the baby cried.

"Please excuse me," she said, "Blanche needs burping."

It seemed an appropriate time to discuss the glamorous life of a new movie queen, 1957 model.

"I'm sorry," said the brown-haired, blue-eyed actress, returning to the living room. "It's the baby nurse's day off. Maid? I have one in for only eight hours a week. But now, maybe we can talk. That is if the phone doesn't ring.

"It's been ringing like mad since the premiere and all the fuss. I need a secretary but can't afford one. People call all the time, suggesting this, asking that, wondering if I'd be interested in many things. Most of the time I don't know what they're talking about or I don't know who to be nice to. So I just pretend I'm Miss Baker's secretary and promise to call back. Then I talk it over with my agent."

"No, just this apartment which we're only beginning to be able to pay for. I'm afraid most people have the wrong idea of what it's like to become a movie star these days. The money I now make impresses all my relatives. It is, of course, staggering compared to the days just two or three years ago when Jack (Jack Garfein, husband and stage director) and I were living on macaroni and cheese.

"But the money quickly becomes too little. For example, I'm going to the Coast this spring for another picture. We'll have to have a house, nurse, cook and car to get to the studio. I don't know how we'll pay for it."

Miss Baker has learned to live with the controversy surrounding her movie. But she has not yet learned to live with public curiosity.

"People stare at you and they're so bold about it. The other night we went to an art exhibit and strangers were sticking their faces in mine, just staring or overhearing our conversation. Even while I was hanging on my husband's arm, one man—I'd never seen him before—went sailing by with the greeting, 'Hi, Baby Doll.'

Advances In Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SCIENTISTS, pharmacists, even electrical engineers are contributing to advances in the medical field.

This month's report deals with accomplishments of all three, with a new type of aspirin, a new epileptic drug and a new type of telephone.

The new pharmaceutical development permits victims of arthritis and other conditions to take large and effective doses of aspirin without at times suffering gastric upset.

Effective Therapy

We have long recognized aspirin as effective therapy in rheumatic diseases, but the stomach distress it sometimes causes in large doses has limited its use among many patients.

Application of a new coating—Duentric—to aspirin now enables the tablets to pass intact through the stomach, yet disintegrate quickly in the small intestine. This allows the medicine to be absorbed into the blood stream without touching the sensitive stomach lining.

Freedom From Seizures

An anticonvulsant drug, Phelantin, is reported to have given complete freedom from seizures to more than half of a group of 95 epileptic patients in a clinical test in Boston, Massachusetts.

Forty-eight of the patients given the drug reportedly received total relief.

Many of those who reported the drug only partially effective said they still felt better, more alert and slept more restfully while taking Phelantin.

Special Phone

The new type telephone will benefit those who are hard of hearing. By using transistors instead of bulkier vacuum tubes to provide amplification, the Automatic Electric Company has developed a special phone about the same size and weight as an ordinary instrument.

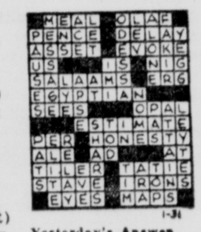

In fact, the transistized amplification assembly fits right into the housing of a conventional telephone. A small control knob at the back of the set permits the user to adjust the volume to his needs.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. K.: I am 73. I seem to lose my balance frequently when I stand up after having been seated for a while. Is this a sign of something serious?

Answer: Staggering or loss of balance may be due to a number of conditions such as disturbance in the inner ear or a nervous system disorder. Sometimes conditions affecting the blood may cause staggering.

MONTH OF WAITING

TIME DRAGS its feet in February. The days are longer than in November, when the leaves have fallen but Winter defers its coming—longer than in August, that month when the Summer begins to die and the earth seems to spin more slowly on its axis. Sometimes it seems that February will never pass and let March bring in the greening grass.

The Romans, who devised the calendar, knew this same hunger for Spring at this time of year. Early in their history they counted only 10 months, leaving a gap of some 60 days between the end of one year and the beginning of the next. In time they added January and February, but they made February short. They gave all the other months 31 days, 30 or 29. They allotted ony 28 to Februarius.

Their calendar was imperfect still. It left them extra days to account for somehow, to make their year fit the unvarying habit of the sun, but apparently they wanted to avoid a longer February. Every second year they stopped the month at the 23rd, threw in the surplus days as a "mensis intercalaria" they called Mercedonius, and then started again with February 24.

Somehow, despite them, the month gained a day. It had 29 days when Julius Caesar reformed the calendar. He kept it there by ordering February 23 repeated once every four years. Then, when Augustus had to have a month as long as Julius', he took the needed day from February. Nobody minded much then and nobody has cared much since, so February has 28 days three years out of four.

Perhaps the reason calendar reformers have not made much progress is that they want February to be the same length as other months. For thousands of years men have insisted on having this month of waiting kept shorter than the others. They may never be persuaded that it is not too long already.

USING TWO-PRICE SYSTEM

BACK IN THE 1920's, with farm surpluses accumulating, the farm bloc in Congress pushed through a two-price system by which surpluses were to be sold abroad at whatever price they would bring while propping the price of that portion of major crops domestically consumed. The White House vetoed it.

During his years in Congress former Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas devoted much of his effort to trying to get the two-price system adopted. He did not succeed.

Now what is essentially the two-price system is in effect. The federal government has been making deals with friendly powers by which a large volume of surpluses is being disposed of abroad at a fraction of the cost. This is being done under several programs. Reserves stored by the government are still huge but are getting lower.

Now the way is open for further application of the two-price system. The red satellites, stymied by bad weather and political unrest, need imported grain and cotton. Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and other sare in dire need of food and fiber.

Should they be allowed to stew in their unrest, thus hastening the end of red despotism, or should their distress be alleviated and U. S. farm surpluses reduced? These are questions about which the public will hear more soon.

The answers given by Congress and the administration may depend on public sentiment as it is aroused by the discussions.

American aid to Asia will build up rapidly, according to a Washington dispatch. The Good Old Days were those in which AAA stood for Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Politics ought to be a means not an end. The politician, once he is chosen, ought to attempt to do something more than to serve his own ambitions, to promote his friends or to fight his enemies. It would seem that the weakness of the republican form of government lies in the sacrifice of all other considerations to the perpetuation of political cliques in power with the result that great ends are sacrificed for small means.

To an astonishing degree the prime manipulators of political power are some who came in during the latter days of Roosevelt, who survived during the Truman regime, who expanded and blossomed during the first Eisenhower Administration and who are still on hand. Such political handy-men never run for public office; they never submit themselves to the people's judgment. They achieve success by friendship, by doing favors, by making contracts for favors, and by collecting campaign funds.

Their greatest strength is in knowing many people in all parts of the country and even in other countries and in always engaging in the art of bringing those together who can be useful to each other, even if they are harmful to the country. For instance, a large number of generals in the last war were placed in lucrative, even enriching positions as soon as they could get out of the army. Some of them are now so well fixed that they are even powerful in the business and political world. This placement job had to be done by a Wall Street political banker, astute, experienced, hard-boiled, who strengthened his own position by winning the undying gratitude of these distinguished but low salaried generals.

True, these are experienced men whose services are valuable, but the placement problem up at the top is always difficult and the good-fellow who knows how to do it without fuss is worth a great deal in a political organization. He comes to be regarded as an exceedingly wise person and before long, it is overlooked that he may be serving some interests of his own.

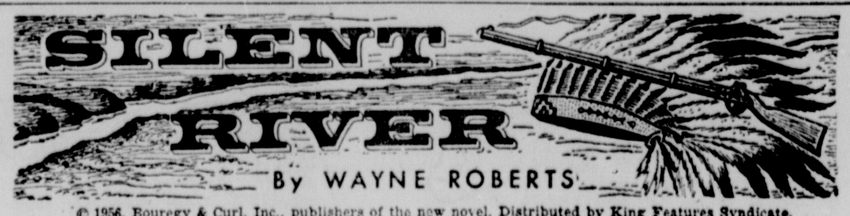

The 22nd Amendment to the Constitution raised the issue of the 1960 Republican Convention the day Mr. Eisenhower was elected. He cannot succeed himself and these political bankers and their adjutants got busy even before San Francisco looking for a successor.

The "Dump Nixon Movement" was an outgrowth of that and its engineers fled from Harold Stassen as soon as they knew that Nixon could not be dumped. However, they would not mind dumping him any time they got the chance, as they would prefer a candidate of their own, one bound to them by friendship and gratitude.

It is a little coterie that plays politics all the time, even in the selection of United States Senators and judges of various courts. It is a group so without principle that while its private interests are ultra-conservative, it unites with so-called liberals and left-wingers, with Democrats or Republicans, with anybody that can be made grateful.

It does not require a man to be principled or patriotic; it only requires that he accepts favors and shows his gratitude for them.

CHAPTER 18

THE Red Nymph was the last boat downriver from Fort Blaine. There was a lengthy dispatch in the Fort Butterfield mail bag from Colonel Randall to General Sherman. He read the last paragraph twice.

As you know, General, it is not uncommon for a man going into battle to have a premonition of disaster. In a way we are going into battle. This dispatch will go down the Missouri on the last boat. When you receive it, the river will be frozen, our slow but sole avenue of communication with you completely blocked. Here we are, a handful of soldiers surrounded by hostiles and a naked land. If the savages do not get us, the winter surely will. We can expect no help from Fort Blaine. The traders there would like nothing better than to see us murdered and our post wiped out. They frankly tell us that our presence this far up the river has made the Indians uneasy and has seriously hampered their trading. I can understand their attitude. On the other hand, I cannot understand the attitude of a penny-pinching Congress and a selfish and ungrateful public that insists we keep the river open so the wealth from the Montana mines can move downstream in order that the rich may become still richer. I need more men and better arms, and most of all, horses. I can think of nothing more futile than to ask foot soldiers to fight Indians who are always well mounted. I have a strong feeling that none of us will be alive next spring when the river breaks up. If we are not, I can at least hope that our deaths will force a change in the nation's Indian policy. Perhaps I will be remembered as the officer who built Fort Butterfield and who died when it was destroyed.

Respectfully submitted,
Benjamin K. Randall,
Brevet Colonel, Fifteenth Infantry.

Randall had said nothing about the Peace Commission and its fiasco. He had not mentioned Chad Endicott or the scout, Zack Cubberly. Sherman had listened to Arbuthnot's complaints, but he wished Randall had given the other side of the story.

There was much in what Randall had to say about a penny-pinching Congress and an ungrateful public, but there was nothing new about Randall's situation. He had known that when he'd begged for the assignment. Sherman had no sympathy for him. But Chad Endicott . . . and the seventy men under Randall.

Sherman thought of Elizabeth Tipton. She would certainly have received a letter from Chad. The General left his office. He stepped into a carriage and gave the address of the Tipton residence, his mind on the Indian problem. A sufficiently large force of mounted men, armed with the new Henry sixteen-shot repeaters, could make the plains safe for whites in less than a year.

Therein lay the stupidity of the whole business. The Bureau of Indian Affairs had money to buy presents for savages and to hire men like Arbuthnot; but the army, cut down to a skeleton force and a skeleton budget, could not send enough soldiers to man a frontier post.

When the carriage reached the Tipton house, Elizabeth opened the door. "General Sherman!" she exclaimed, surprised when she saw who it was. "Come in."

He stepped into the hall. "How is your father?" he asked.

"Father isn't well, General," she said. "He's been in bed for a week. Come on upstairs to his room. He'll be awfully glad to see you."

"Elizabeth, I'm going to ask you a question which is none of my business," Sherman said slowly, "and if you don't want to tell me, just come out and say so. I know Lieutenant Endicott quite well. But I don't need to tell you what I think of him. I was wondering if you've had a letter from him recently."

"Yes. One came today." She hesitated.

Sherman said quickly, "You can tell me what I want to know. Did he say anything about some Indian trouble that involved a peace commission?"

She nodded. "He said it was a little touchy for a while, and they owed their lives to the scout. He said he told one of the commissioners after it was over that he he was an incompetent jackass. It won't hurt Chad's career, will it?"

"If I can arrange it, I'll see that he's promoted to captain next year on the basis of what you just told me." He cleared his throat. "Did he indicate any concern about getting through the winter?"

"No."

Tipton was propped up in bed, reading. Pleasure showed on his gaunt face as he held out his hand. "Well, this is fine. What ever brought you out on a day like this, General?"

Sherman shook his hand and pulled up a chair. "Just thought I'd find out why you liked your bed so well."

Sherman looked around and saw Elizabeth had gone. "You know, Tip, that girl of yours is a dandy. Endicott should have married her before he left last spring."

"She wanted to," Tipton said, "but Chad's kind of funny. I know how he feels, though. Felt the same way myself when I was a pup; but when you get older, you find out that life's so short you regret every day or hour that you weren't with your woman when you had a chance."

Sherman nodded, looking at Tipton's parchment-like skin pulled tightly over the bones of his face.

"She'll want to go." Tipton tapped his book with a bony fist, frowning. "After Chad left last spring, Alvin Stiner dropped in one evening and told me he loved Elizabeth but he wouldn't mention it to her as long as Chad was alive. She was moping around the house like a weeping widow and I persuaded her to go out with Alvin once in a while. Just for a buggy drive or Sunday dinner. Last month he took her to the opening of the St. Louis Opera House on Fifth Street."

"You're wrong, Tip," Sherman said quietly. "I suppose Stiner is all right, but he isn't the man Endicott is. Right now, I wish Endicott was in command instead of Randall." He held out his hand. "I've got to go, Tip. Don't think you have to get back on the job until you feel like it."

'Baby Doll' Has Her Troubles

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Carroll Baker, star of "Baby Doll," had just come in from shopping.

She unloaded two huge bags of groceries on the kitchen table, cast a tired glance over the scattered evidences of baby formula, sighed, brushed back a loose hair, moved into the living room, collapsed in a chair and reached for a cigaret when the baby cried.

"Please excuse me," she said, "Blanche needs burping."

It seemed an appropriate time to discuss the glamorous life of a new movie queen, 1957 model.

"I'm sorry," said the brown-haired, blue-eyed actress, returning to the living room. "It's the baby nurse's day off. Maid? I have one in for only eight hours a week. But now, maybe we can talk. That is if the phone doesn't ring.

"It's been ringing like mad since the premiere and all the fuss. I need a secretary but can't afford one. People call all the time, suggesting this, asking that, wondering if I'd be interested in many things. Most of the time I don't know what they're talking about or I don't know who to be nice to. So I just pretend I'm Miss Baker's secretary and promise to call back. Then I talk it over with my agent."

"No, just this apartment which we're only beginning to be able to pay for. I'm afraid most people have the wrong idea of what it's like to become a movie star these days. The money I now make impresses all my relatives. It is, of course, staggering compared to the days just two or three years ago when Jack (Jack Garfein, husband and stage director) and I were living on macaroni and cheese.

"But the money quickly becomes too little. For example, I'm going to the Coast this spring for another picture. We'll have to have a house, nurse, cook and car to get to the studio. I don't know how we'll pay for it."

Miss Baker has learned to live with the controversy surrounding her movie. But she has not yet learned to live with public curiosity.

"People stare at you and they're so bold about it. The other night we went to an art exhibit and strangers were sticking their faces in mine, just staring or overhearing our conversation. Even while I was hanging on my husband's arm, one man—I'd never seen him before—went sailing by with the greeting, 'Hi, Baby Doll.'

Florida Honeymoon Follows Smith-Palm Wedding Rites

An altar adorned with candelabras, vases of gladolis and palms was the background for the wedding rites of Miss Juliann King Smith and Mr. James Marvin Palm.

The 4:30 p. m. double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl G. Zehner in Trinity Lutheran Church.

The former Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith of 124½ E. Main St., and Mr. Palm is the son of Mrs. Amos Palm of 136 Park St. and the late Amos Palm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white transparent velvent designed along princess lines, and featuring long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of Enchantment threaded lace and satin orange blossoms, appliqued on nylon tulle, flowed from a white velvet headpiece. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of her sister, Mrs. John E. Clayton, who is residing in Japan with her Air Force husband. She carried a White Prayer book topped by a large white, yellow-throated, orchid with streamers of white satin ribbon tied with greenery.

Miss Sally Clifton was maid of honor, Miss Nancy Barnhill served as bridesmaid and Miss Jane Ellen Smith, sister of the bride, and Miss Karyn Conley, niece of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids.

Florida Honeymoon Follows Smith-Palm Wedding Rites

An altar adorned with candelabras, vases of gladolis and palms was the background for the wedding rites of Miss Juliann King Smith and Mr. James Marvin Palm.

The 4:30 p. m. double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl G. Zehner in Trinity Lutheran Church.

The former Miss Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith of 124½ E. Main St., and Mr. Palm is the son of Mrs. Amos Palm of 136 Park St. and the late Amos Palm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white transparent velvent designed along princess lines, and featuring long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of Enchantment threaded lace and satin orange blossoms, appliqued on nylon tulle, flowed from a white velvet headpiece. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of her sister, Mrs. John E. Clayton, who is residing in Japan with her Air Force husband. She carried a White Prayer book topped by a large white, yellow-throated, orchid with streamers of white satin ribbon tied with greenery.

Miss Sally Clifton was maid of honor, Miss Nancy Barnhill served as bridesmaid and Miss Jane Ellen Smith, sister of the bride, and Miss Karyn Conley, niece of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids.

The attendants' ballerina-length gowns were made along princess lines with matching headpieces. The maid of honor was attired in an aqua sky velvet gown and the bridesmaids wore aqua tone velvet. They carried Colonial bouquets of red Happiness roses and their only jewelry were pearl chokers, gifts of the bride.

Flower girls were little Miss Monica Salyer, cousin of the bride, and little Miss Jackie Palm, niece of the bridegroom. They wore aqua tone velvet, princess dresses. Each carried a nosegay of red Happiness roses and wore a single strand pearl necklace, gifts of the bride.

Mr. Jack Palm of Circleville, served as best man for his brother.

Ushers were Mr. Joseph Smith, cousin of the bride, Mr. Robert Lamb, Mr. Larry Wing, Mr. Thomas Peters, all of Circleville, and Mr. Paul Woods, of Stoutsville.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: How can I become more interesting to my fiance? He is away at college most of the time, but home for holidays and some weekends.

On his recent visits home, I've found it difficult to make conversation with him, and have wondered if he is tired of me, or even bored with me. The things I talk about just don't seem to interest him. Maybe I don't express myself well; but I never noticed this problem before.

Would education have anything to do with it? He has been going to college for six years now and I've had only one semester in college. We decided it would be better if I got a job and started saving money so we could marry sooner.

I do want to make him happy, and want him to enjoy himself in my company. But I wish he would pay more attention to me. At times he acts as if I'm not present; he doesn't speak to me or refer to me. He has asked me to his home, then gone off to another room or left the house without inviting me along. Of course his folks were there for me to talk to—a large family, wonderful people.

We double - date occasionally with two good friends and Jim always seems so interested in the other girl. He teases her about her work and asks about it, and seems so interested in all she says. I know he isn't in love with her, but I wish I could capture his interest as she does.

V. Y.

DEAR V. Y.: I regret to say that Jim's behavior, as described, does suggest that something has "turned out the light" of his formerly positive interest in you. Whether the light will go on again is a good question; but chances are that it may, since you've been counting on each other, as prospective life partners, for the last six years.

Persons who invest that much time, thought and routine association in a close relationship, inevitably arrive at a sense of belonging that exists in its own right, independently of the emotions and sentiments that the principals may be feeling about each other, at any given time. And it is this common bond of a "we"-relationship that tends to hold a longtime alliance together, when counter attractions threaten to pull it apart.

In other words, perennial dating becomes ingrained habit and gathers the force of necessity (it may seem), even if the companion pair don't always like, or love or approve of each other. And Jim's recently uncivil — in fact, bored and rejecting—manner with you indicates that fetters of habit, rather than lively preference, keep him engaged to you, currently.

As for what to do about it—assuming you wish to stay engaged and become his wife, the best diplomacy is to treat him as nicely, as graciously and considerately, as if he were a brand new person in your experience, whose friendship and liking you hope to enlist.

At present, he is comparing you critically with some other package of femininity, I gather. And there's no use your trying to outshine the competition (in his mind), whoever she may be. Be yourself, self - respectingly; be poised, unaffected and faithful. And if that isn't enough to revive his good manners, and rekindle a naturally congenial exchange, say by next summer, you might introduce a discussion of the problem, as you see it. That might clear the air, if you care to risk it.

M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Saunders Mill Slated For Sale

TOLEDO (AP)—Saunders Mills of Toledo say agreement has been reached in principle on its sale to Grain Elevator Warehouse Co. of Philadelphia.

C. M. Saunders, founder and president of the local firm, said the deal may be closed soon.

Reports from Philadelphia indicate the price will be in excess of $1 million.

Saunders operates 14 alfalfa dehydrating plants in Ohio, California, Arizona, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Tennessee and Missouri and has a 62 per cent interest in Central Mills, Inc., another Toledo alfalfa dehydrating firm.

Garage Damaged

DAYTON (AP)—Fire Wednesday destroyed the St. John Transportation Co. garage here, causing damage estimated at $175,000. Leaking gasoline apparently caused the blaze, firemen said.

U.S. Steel Chief Sees Improvements

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., expects the steel industry to do a beter job this year than last in meeting demand for scarce plates and structural steel.

He predicted Tuesday the industry's production of these items would run about 15 to 20 per cent ahead of the 1956 output. Such an increase would provide at least some relief for hard-pressed shipbuilders, highway contractors and other heavy construction builders, he said.

Blough, who heads the world's largest steel company, said the industry is able to satisfy adequately the current demands for most other types of steel.

He forecast near-capacity operations for the first quarter of this year and said it should be followed by a "very good second quarter." Talks with steel customers, he added, indicate that demand for stell will hold at a "very good level" for the full year.

Blough made his predictions at a news conference following a meeting at which the directors of "Big Steel" raised the dividend on common stock to 75 cents a share, 10 cents more than was paid in previous quarters.

The company also reported the highest fourth quarter earnings and shipments in its history. Net income for the quarter amounted to $104,528,839, or $1.83 a share, compared with $102,690,682, equal to $1.80 a share, the same period last year. The earnings record for any quarter remains the $105,225,558, or $1.85 a share, reported for the second quarter of 1955.

Full 'Home Rule' Power Sought For Villages In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal giving village councilmen complete power to decide salaries for all officials in their communities got its first hearing in the state Legislature Wednesday.

Offered by Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) it would affect every community of fewer than 5,000 persons.

Under existing law, village councilmen are limited in pay to $3-$5 a meeting and may be paid for 24 meetings.

Carney and Sen. Stephan R. Olenick (D-Mahoning) introduced a bill earlier in the session to increase councilmen's salaries to $3-$25 a meeting, depending on the village's annual budget.

But Carney came back Wednesday with an amendment that would remove even the $25 limit and would instead give councilmen complete "home rule" in determining pay for themselves and other officials.

Carney's proposal is backed by the Ohio Municipal League

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: How can I become more interesting to my fiance? He is away at college most of the time, but home for holidays and some weekends.

On his recent visits home, I've found it difficult to make conversation with him, and have wondered if he is tired of me, or even bored with me. The things I talk about just don't seem to interest him. Maybe I don't express myself well; but I never noticed this problem before.

Would education have anything to do with it? He has been going to college for six years now and I've had only one semester in college. We decided it would be better if I got a job and started saving money so we could marry sooner.

I do want to make him happy, and want him to enjoy himself in my company. But I wish he would pay more attention to me. At times he acts as if I'm not present; he doesn't speak to me or refer to me. He has asked me to his home, then gone off to another room or left the house without inviting me along. Of course his folks were there for me to talk to—a large family, wonderful people.

We double - date occasionally with two good friends and Jim always seems so interested in the other girl. He teases her about her work and asks about it, and seems so interested in all she says. I know he isn't in love with her, but I wish I could capture his interest as she does.

V. Y.

DEAR V. Y.: I regret to say that Jim's behavior, as described, does suggest that something has "turned out the light" of his formerly positive interest in you. Whether the light will go on again is a good question; but chances are that it may, since you've been counting on each other, as prospective life partners, for the last six years.

Persons who invest that much time, thought and routine association in a close relationship, inevitably arrive at a sense of belonging that exists in its own right, independently of the emotions and sentiments that the principals may be feeling about each other, at any given time. And it is this common bond of a "we"-relationship that tends to hold a longtime alliance together, when counter attractions threaten to pull it apart.

In other words, perennial dating becomes ingrained habit and gathers the force of necessity (it may seem), even if the companion pair don't always like, or love or approve of each other. And Jim's recently uncivil — in fact, bored and rejecting—manner with you indicates that fetters of habit, rather than lively preference, keep him engaged to you, currently.

As for what to do about it—assuming you wish to stay engaged and become his wife, the best diplomacy is to treat him as nicely, as graciously and considerately, as if he were a brand new person in your experience, whose friendship and liking you hope to enlist.

At present, he is comparing you critically with some other package of femininity, I gather. And there's no use your trying to outshine the competition (in his mind), whoever she may be. Be yourself, self - respectingly; be poised, unaffected and faithful. And if that isn't enough to revive his good manners, and rekindle a naturally congenial exchange, say by next summer, you might introduce a discussion of the problem, as you see it. That might clear the air, if you care to risk it.

M. H.

Saunders Mill Slated For Sale

TOLEDO (AP)—Saunders Mills of Toledo say agreement has been reached in principle on its sale to Grain Elevator Warehouse Co. of Philadelphia.

C. M. Saunders, founder and president of the local firm, said the deal may be closed soon.

Reports from Philadelphia indicate the price will be in excess of $1 million.

Saunders operates 14 alfalfa dehydrating plants in Ohio, California, Arizona, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Tennessee and Missouri and has a 62 per cent interest in Central Mills, Inc., another Toledo alfalfa dehydrating firm.

Garage Damaged

DAYTON (AP)—Fire Wednesday destroyed the St. John Transportation Co. garage here, causing damage estimated at $175,000. Leaking gasoline apparently caused the blaze, firemen said.

U.S. Steel Chief Sees Improvements

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp., expects the steel industry to do a beter job this year than last in meeting demand for scarce plates and structural steel.

He predicted Tuesday the industry's production of these items would run about 15 to 20 per cent ahead of the 1956 output. Such an increase would provide at least some relief for hard-pressed shipbuilders, highway contractors and other heavy construction builders, he said.

Blough, who heads the world's largest steel company, said the industry is able to satisfy adequately the current demands for most other types of steel.

He forecast near-capacity operations for the first quarter of this year and said it should be followed by a "very good second quarter." Talks with steel customers, he added, indicate that demand for stell will hold at a "very good level" for the full year.

Blough made his predictions at a news conference following a meeting at which the directors of "Big Steel" raised the dividend on common stock to 75 cents a share, 10 cents more than was paid in previous quarters.

The company also reported the highest fourth quarter earnings and shipments in its history. Net income for the quarter amounted to $104,528,839, or $1.83 a share, compared with $102,690,682, equal to $1.80 a share, the same period last year. The earnings record for any quarter remains the $105,225,558, or $1.85 a share, reported for the second quarter of 1955.

Religion Week Set

COLUMBUS (AP)—The week beginning Feb. 3 has been proclaimed "Religious Emphasis Week in Ohio" by Gov. C. William O'Neill.

Full 'Home Rule' Power Sought For Villages In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposal giving village councilmen complete power to decide salaries for all officials in their communities got its first hearing in the state Legislature Wednesday.

Offered by Sen. Charles J. Carney (D-Mahoning) it would affect every community of fewer than 5,000 persons.

Under existing law, village councilmen are limited in pay to $3-$5 a meeting and may be paid for 24 meetings.

Carney and Sen. Stephan R. Olenick (D-Mahoning) introduced a bill earlier in the session to increase councilmen's salaries to $3-$25 a meeting, depending on the village's annual budget.

But Carney came back Wednesday with an amendment that would remove even the $25 limit and would instead give councilmen complete "home rule" in determining pay for themselves and other officials.

Carney's proposal is backed by the Ohio Municipal League

Many Factors Combine To Launch Drought In Any Section

Southwest's Dry Spell Revives Rainmaker Idea

Researchers Admit Science Has Little To Aid Conditions

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles.

United States Weather bureau officials say a precise definition of a drought depends upon many things. One may say that drought is a lack of rainfall, but this is not enough.

Other factors such as temperature, wind, atmosphere, humidity, cloudiness, soil type and soil moisture, the kind of local vegetation, the stream flow, the average climate in the area in question, and the duration of the dryness itself all have a bearing on the existence and severity of a drought.

One thing all federal weathermen agree with is that the present drought in the Southwest certainly is one of the worst yet. Some who have analyzed tree-ring data maintain there have been no droughts substantially greater than the current drought since about 1670, and perhaps not since 1570.

If available tree-ring data is used to gain some idea of the schedule of droughts in past centuries over the western United States, there is little evidence of persistent regularity.

* * *

LONG-TERM TRENDS are evident in some of the precipitation record in the drought area, say officials. Several shorter-period records show downward trends which appear significant. Most of these records began in the relatively wet period around 1900, thereby contributing further to a statistical trend since that date.

When considered with longer-period records that are available, say weathermen, the precipitation trends at some weather stations seem to be rather transitory. The longer records do not suggest the presence of important and systematic trends, except possibly in certain areas.

For example, there is the possibility of a slight downward trend in precipitation throughout Kansas and eastern Colorado. Rather more definite downward trends are found at Tucson, Ariz., and Alburquerque, N. M., but these city records may have been affected on a local scale by changes in city climate and raingage exposure accompanying city growth.

Return periods of drought of the present severity are of the order of 40 years in Texas, Colorado and New Mexico; 60 years in Arizona, and roughly 140 years in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Officials believe there is no absolute evidence of systematic cycles or long-term trends in precipitation in the present drought area.

The existing drought has intensified interest in cloud-seeding activities in attempts to bring additional rain to parched areas. There still are divergent opinions by weathermen on the degree of success of such operations.

These differences, they say, cannot be resolved without a larger research effort leading to more comprehensive and evaluation.

* * *

THERE IS general agreement, however, that none of the available methods are useful without the presence of potentially rain-producing clouds. Clear skies and lack of moisture-laden winds are characteristic of persistent and prolonged drought.

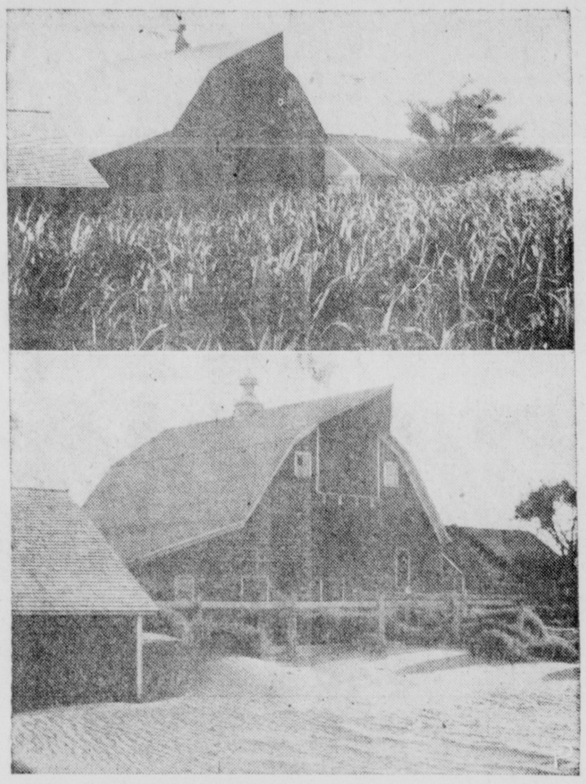

It's not always easy to predict drought. During the past quarter of a century meteorologists have gained a fair amount of knowledge regarding the patterns of prevailing wind flow associated with drought.

nI the case of Summertime drought over the central and southern plains of the U. S., the immediate drought-producing air circulation which prevails aloft usually consists of a great clockwise-rotating cell.

If this cell, or upper-level anticyclone, as it is called, is well developed and centered over the southern plains, it naturally will not favor penetration into the plains of deep, moisture-bearing air currents from the Gulf of Mexico—one of the necessary ingredients for substantial precipitation.

Not all weathermen agree on the causes of drought. There are varying theories to the point where reliable predictions of drought for as long as a season or a year ahead are possible.

Such predictions must await clearer understanding of the ultimate causes—one of nature's most complex problems to which many research groups now are addressing themselves.

Benson Proposes New Corn Plan With 70 Pct. Parity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson declares the Eisenhower administration would be willing to accept a price support floor of 70 per cent of parity for corn under a proposed new three-year program.

Thereafter the grain would be supported at between zero and 90 per cent of parity, at the discretion of the department. Present law requires corn, like other major crops, to be supported indefinitely at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Benson gave the administration position in testimony before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

He said a new corn program is needed because the present one, based on legislation enacted in 1938, is no longer effective in stabilizing prices and supplies. It calls upon growers to make reductions in production which few are willing to make.

The new program would allot 51 million acres a year through 1959 to production of corn in a designated commercial area, now comprising all or part of 24 states. The present program would allot only 37,300,000 acres.

Growers would be required to put an acreage of tilled land equal to 15 per cent of their corn base acreage—that is, allotment—into the soil bank if they wanted price supports. The present program makes no such requirement.

The measure would set no floor for corn supports. However, there has been strong demand from corn state legislators that the new program fix a floor—most of them insisting upon a minimum of 75 per cent of parity.

Argentine Hit By Record Heat

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) Argentina is suffering its worst heat wave in the century it has been keeping weather records.

The temperature soared to 109.9 degrees Tuesday. The highest mark since weather records were started in 1856. Eleven heat deaths were reported in Buenos Aires and 7 in Avellaneda.

Robbery-Kidnaping Brings Sentence

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — John R. Veach, 20, of Uniontown, Pa., pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery and kidnaping in common pleas court Wednesday and was sentenced to an indeterminate period in the Ohio Reformatory.

Veach was brought from Uniontown in connection with the robbery of the Veneris Restaurant here last month and the subsequent slugging of a police sergeant and deputy sheriff.

Officers said Veach also admitted several burglaries in Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., and the theft of a car in Ashland, Ohio.

Troy Jury Picked In Fatal Shooting

TROY (AP)—A jury of 8 men and 4 women has been selected for the first degree murder trial of Dow Johnson Jr., 27, of Troy.

Johnson, indicted by the Miami County grand jury, is charged in the fatal shooting of Douglas W. Miller, 29, also of Troy.

Police said Johnson found Miller on the night of October 24 in a tavern with Johnson's estranged wife, Lucy, 19. He shot Miller six times and his wife twice as she attempted to flee, police said.

Johnson's wife has since recovered from her wounds.

Fall Kills Worker

CLEVELAND (AP)—A boilermaker from Cresson, Pa., Eugene A. Nileski, 31, was killed Wednesday in a 140-foot fall from a scaffold on a blast furnace being installed at the Jones & Laughlin plant here.

Many Factors Combine To Launch Drought In Any Section

Southwest's Dry Spell Revives Rainmaker Idea

Researchers Admit Science Has Little To Aid Conditions

Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles.

United States Weather bureau officials say a precise definition of a drought depends upon many things. One may say that drought is a lack of rainfall, but this is not enough.

Other factors such as temperature, wind, atmosphere, humidity, cloudiness, soil type and soil moisture, the kind of local vegetation, the stream flow, the average climate in the area in question, and the duration of the dryness itself all have a bearing on the existence and severity of a drought.

One thing all federal weathermen agree with is that the present drought in the Southwest certainly is one of the worst yet. Some who have analyzed tree-ring data maintain there have been no droughts substantially greater than the current drought since about 1670, and perhaps not since 1570.

If available tree-ring data is used to gain some idea of the schedule of droughts in past centuries over the western United States, there is little evidence of persistent regularity.

* * *

LONG-TERM TRENDS are evident in some of the precipitation record in the drought area, say officials. Several shorter-period records show downward trends which appear significant. Most of these records began in the relatively wet period around 1900, thereby contributing further to a statistical trend since that date.

When considered with longer-period records that are available, say weathermen, the precipitation trends at some weather stations seem to be rather transitory. The longer records do not suggest the presence of important and systematic trends, except possibly in certain areas.

For example, there is the possibility of a slight downward trend in precipitation throughout Kansas and eastern Colorado. Rather more definite downward trends are found at Tucson, Ariz., and Alburquerque, N. M., but these city records may have been affected on a local scale by changes in city climate and raingage exposure accompanying city growth.

Return periods of drought of the present severity are of the order of 40 years in Texas, Colorado and New Mexico; 60 years in Arizona, and roughly 140 years in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Officials believe there is no absolute evidence of systematic cycles or long-term trends in precipitation in the present drought area.

The existing drought has intensified interest in cloud-seeding activities in attempts to bring additional rain to parched areas. There still are divergent opinions by weathermen on the degree of success of such operations.

'Mrs. Circleville' Contest Launched

Local homemakers were urged today to enter the 19th annual "Mrs. America" contest, sponsored locally by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company.

Harry Metier, local, manager for Ohio Fuel, said application blanks for the $15,000 prize contest will be available, starting Friday, at the gas company office, 134 N. Court St., and at local gas appliance stores. Entries must be filed by March 15.

The "Mrs. America" contest is open to all married women over 21 years of age. Winners will be chosen at local, district, state, and national levels. Contestants will be judged at each level on their homemaking ability, personality and poise, character, grooming, and community activities.

Metier stressed that the nation's leading homemaker may be a local resident. Last year, Mrs. Polly Miller of Circleville Route 1, won the local contest and advanced to the Athens district finals.

* * *

"WHILE A well groomed appearance is a factor, the event is not a beauty contest", Metier said. "This is a contest for skillful housewives, and we want to find the best homemaker in the Pickaway County area to represent our town."

A "Mrs. Circleville" will be selected the week of March 17th in a local elimination contest, conducted by three judges from the community. Judges will be selected soon.

The first-place winner will compete with winners from other area communities in a district "cook-off" contest at Athens the week of April 1.

The winner of the district "cook-off" will win an automatic gas range and advance to the state-wide contest in Columbus, April 11. There, the new "Mrs. Ohio" will be chosen.

Last year, Mrs. Gloria Buth, formerly of Columbus, won the "Mrs. Ohio" title. Mrs. Buth and her husband, a Lutheran minister, now live in California. She later placed third in the national contest.

The woman named "Mrs. Ohio" this year will win an all-expense paid trip for herself and her husband to the national "Mrs. America" finals at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the week of May 7. Several other prizes will also be presented.

* * *

RUNNER-UP in the "Mrs. Ohio" contest will win a Hamilton automatic washer and gas clothes dryer. The woman placing third will win a John Wood automatic gas water heater.

The homemaker selected "Mrs. America" will win prizes valued at more than $15,000.

Ohio Farmers Cool On Soil Bank Idea

COLUMBUS (AP) —Many Ohio farmers will not participate in the government's soil bank program unless they are allowed to increase their corn acreage under the federal price support program, an official of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said.

H. D. Heckathorn, president of the federation, said present acreage allotments under the price support program will leave Ohio farmers, many of whom are livestock feeders, without feed.

Ohio Penitentiary Chaplain Dies At 65

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Rev. Kleber E. Wall, 65, Protestant chaplain at Ohio State Penitentiary for the last 28 years, died in his home here Wednesday.

He was in his second year at the penitentiary during the tragic 1930 prison fire.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the P. E. Rutherford Funeral Home here.

These Days

It works in both parties and if the reader will refresh his memory, he will be astonished at how often he has seen the same influential names during both Republican and Democratic Administrations. To individual Senators and members of Congress this group is important because they can find campaign funds for their favorites or spend money in opposition.

Such persons have, of course, always existed but each one usually belonged to one political party and operated within it. Today, it is not so. The same men like to be in all parties and some of them, I should not be surprised, must have connections even among the Communists, although they would surely abhor Marxism if they thought that it might catch up with them.

I have painted the profile of a typically dangerous because hidden political manipulator. How long he can remain hidden depends only upon how long men will be grateful to him for favors done. Sooner or later, someone will loosen up and then all the opportunities and careerists will run for shelter and some will even talk and tell the innards of a cabal that has somehow managed to run the United States for at least a decade, come Republicans, come Democrats.

These Days

It works in both parties and if the reader will refresh his memory, he will be astonished at how often he has seen the same influential names during both Republican and Democratic Administrations. To individual Senators and members of Congress this group is important because they can find campaign funds for their favorites or spend money in opposition.

Such persons have, of course, always existed but each one usually belonged to one political party and operated within it. Today, it is not so. The same men like to be in all parties and some of them, I should not be surprised, must have connections even among the Communists, although they would surely abhor Marxism if they thought that it might catch up with them.

I have painted the profile of a typically dangerous because hidden political manipulator. How long he can remain hidden depends only upon how long men will be grateful to him for favors done. Sooner or later, someone will loosen up and then all the opportunities and careerists will run for shelter and some will even talk and tell the innards of a cabal that has somehow managed to run the United States for at least a decade, come Republicans, come Democrats.

Walnut Township Junior Cagers Earn 1957 Championship Crown

Walnut Township's junior high cagers earned a hard-fought victory and Pickaway County's 1957 junior high basketball crown last night as they downed a stubborn Washington Township quintet, 39 to 36, at Walnut.

Consolation honors and third place in the tourney went to the young cagers of Saltcreek who fashioned a 50 to 19 win over Williamsport in the first game of the evening.

In a contest that furnished plenty of thrills and excitement throughout, the new junior champions started fast, slowed down a little and then opened up with a barrage which carried them through to victory.

Walnut moved out in front 11-2 as the first period ended which indicated that the game might be a runaway. However, the Washington battlers had different plans as they came roaring back in the second stanza to pull within four points at halftime, 17 to 13.

* * *

AT THE end of the third frame, Walnut was leading by three markers, 31-28. Both teams played on even terms in the final period, each collecting eight tallies, but Walnut's early three point margin proved sufficient for the decision and the county title.

The winners got off to an early lead when Tommy Harber dropped in two foul shots. The Walnut crew went on to score six points before Earl Haddox collected his team's only goal of the quarter.

The test began to get interesting in the second quarter as Billy Fowler hit three times from the field for Washington and Haddox netted another two-pointer to narrow the score to 17-13 by intermission.

In the third period, Walnut's all-around performer, Harber, connected on four shots to keep his mates out in front. Washington's mainstay for the quarter was Haddox who collected four baskets to keep his squad in contention.

Washington staged a desperate rally in the final period, but Walnut's cagers managed to hold the ball in the closing seconds to hang onto their three point lead until the buzzer sounded.

Harber was the chief point maker for the winners with 23 tallies, well over half his team's total for the night. Last night's total gives the high scoring ace 69 points in three tourney games.

* * *

FOR WASHINGTON, it was Fowler who kept his mates in the running with 15 counters. Earl and Jerry Haddox each netted 10.

In the Saltcreek - Williamsport battle, Clifton was top man for the junior Warriors with 18 points. Teammate Spangler collected 16. Williamsport's efforts were paced by Atwood's 11 points.

Following the championship test, trophies were presented to Walnut, Washington and Saltcreek for first, second and third places respectively.

Tournament manager John McPherson of Darby said that this year's competition had the best attendance record of any tourney held so far. He also added that the caliber of play was as good as any in past tournament history.

Tigers To Visit WCH For Game Friday Night

Circleville's cage Tigers will be out to rack up their second league win in a row Friday night when they travel to Washington C. H. for a clash with the Blue Lions.

Both squads are presently deadlocked for second place in South Central League standings with records of three wins and two losses. Wilmington and Hillsboro hold down the number one spot with identical records of four victories and two defeats.

The Tigers will attempt to duplicate last week's feat when they downed Wilmington here in a crucial battle to stay in the league running.

Coach Red Courtney's men will also be out to match an early season performance when they stopped the Blue Lions, 60 to 44, on the local court.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE is still very much in the running for league honors. By downing Washington the CHS basketballers could possibly win the championship— if Hillsboro and Wilmington lose their two remaining tilts. To do this the Tigers will probably have to win all three of their remaining tests.

Current league standings are as follows:

	WON	LOST
Wilmington	4	2
Hillsboro	4	2
Circleville	3	2
Wash. C. H.	3	2
Greenfield	0	6

Maglie Popoff Is Aimed At Jack Robinson

CHICAGO (AP) — Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe and Don Larsen were subjects of a dissertation by Sal Maglie, the Brooklyn Dodger's 39-year-old pitcher whose 13-5 record gave him the National League's '56 comeback honors.

"I don't believe Robinson could get a job as a manager," said Maglie Wednesday when unveiled at a news conference as a member of the advisory committee of a sporting goods company.

"After the way he has popped off recently no ball club would take a chance on him. Nobody would hire him mainly because you couldn't get anybody to play for him after the way he's been rapping other players.

"It's a shame that such a good ball player should sign off that way. I think he could play another year or two of big league ball if he got in shape. He's been weighing around 220 or more pounds. He ought to be down to 200. I'm two years older than Jackie and I think I'm still good for three more years."

Maglie advised young pitchers not to use the no-windup style of Larsen, the New York Yankees' world series perfect game hero.

"A kid could hurt his arm trying it, harm his balance, delivery and aim," he said. "It's all right for fellows like Larsen and Bob Turley. After all, they couldn't get the ball across so they were willing to try anything."

Marv Throneberry, New York Yankee rookie first baseman, drove in 145 runs for Denver last season to lead the American Assn.

Walnut Township Junior Cagers Earn 1957 Championship Crown

Walnut Township's junior high cagers earned a hard-fought victory and Pickaway County's 1957 junior high basketball crown last night as they downed a stubborn Washington Township quintet, 39 to 36, at Walnut.

Consolation honors and third place in the tourney went to the young cagers of Saltcreek who fashioned a 50 to 19 win over Williamsport in the first game of the evening.

In a contest that furnished plenty of thrills and excitement throughout, the new junior champions started fast, slowed down a little and then opened up with a barrage which carried them through to victory.

Walnut moved out in front 11-2 as the first period ended which indicated that the game might be a runaway. However, the Washington battlers had different plans as they came roaring back in the second stanza to pull within four points at halftime, 17 to 13.

AT THE end of the third frame, Walnut was leading by three markers, 31-28. Both teams played on even terms in the final period, each collecting eight tallies, but Walnut's early three point margin proved sufficient for the decision and the county title.

The winners got off to an early lead when Tommy Harber dropped in two foul shots. The Walnut crew went on to score six points before Earl Haddox collected his team's only goal of the quarter.

The test began to get interesting in the second quarter as Billy Fowler hit three times from the field for Washington and Haddox netted another two-pointer to narrow the score to 17-13 by intermission.

In the third period, Walnut's all-around performer, Harber, connected on four shots to keep his mates out in front. Washington's mainstay for the quarter was Haddox who collected four baskets to keep his squad in contention.

Washington staged a desperate rally in the final period, but Walnut's cagers managed to hold the ball in the closing seconds to hang onto their three point lead until the buzzer sounded.

Harber was the chief point maker for the winners with 23 tallies, well over half his team's total for the night. Last night's total gives the high scoring ace 69 points in three tourney games.

* * *

FOR WASHINGTON, it was Fowler who kept his mates in the running with 15 counters. Earl and Jerry Haddox each netted 10.

In the Saltcreek - Williamsport battle, Clifton was top man for the junior Warriors with 18 points. Teammate Spangler collected 16. Williamsport's efforts were paced by Atwood's 11 points.

Following the championship test, trophies were presented to Walnut, Washington and Saltcreek for first, second and third places respectively.

Tournament manager John McPherson of Darby said that this year's competition had the best attendance record of any tourney held so far. He also added that the caliber of play was as good as any in past tournament history.

Tigers To Visit WCH For Game Friday Night

Circleville's cage Tigers will be out to rack up their second league win in a row Friday night when they travel to Washington C. H. for a clash with the Blue Lions.

Both squads are presently deadlocked for second place in South Central League standings with records of three wins and two losses. Wilmington and Hillsboro hold down the number one spot with identical records of four victories and two defeats.

The Tigers will attempt to duplicate last week's feat when they downed Wilmington here in a crucial battle to stay in the league running.

Coach Red Courtney's men will also be out to match an early season performance when they stopped the Blue Lions, 60 to 44, on the local court.

* * *

CIRCLEVILLE is still very much in the running for league honors. By downing Washington the CHS basketballers could possibly win the championship— if Hillsboro and Wilmington lose their two remaining tilts. To do this the Tigers will probably have to win all three of their remaining tests.

Current league standings are as follows:

	WON	LOST
Wilmington	4	2
Hillsboro	4	2
Circleville	3	2
Wash. C. H.	3	2
Greenfield	0	6

Maglie Popoff Is Aimed At Jack Robinson

CHICAGO (AP) — Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe and Don Larsen were subjects of a dissertation by Sal Maglie, the Brooklyn Dodger's 39-year-old pitcher whose 13-5 record gave him the National League's '56 comeback honors.

"I don't believe Robinson could get a job as a manager," said Maglie Wednesday when unveiled at a news conference as a member of the advisory committee of a sporting goods company.

"After the way he has popped off recently no ball club would take a chance on him. Nobody would hire him mainly because you couldn't get anybody to play for him after the way he's been rapping other players.

"It's a shame that such a good ball player should sign off that way. I think he could play another year or two of big league ball if he got in shape. He's been weighing around 220 or more pounds. He ought to be down to 200. I'm two years older than Jackie and I think I'm still good for three more years."

"A kid could hurt his arm trying it, harm his balance, delivery and aim," he said. "It's all right for fellows like Larsen and Bob Turley. After all, they couldn't get the ball across so they were willing to try anything."

Marv Throneberry, New York Yankee rookie first baseman, drove in 145 runs for Denver last season to lead the American Assn.

Pro Football Chiefs Set For Final Draft

Owners Slated To Pick Cream Of College Crop In Annual Conference

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League opened its three day annual meeting today with the college player draft.

The 12 teams drafted according to their final position in the 1956 NFL race with the last place Philadelphia Eagles selecting first and the world champion New York Giants last.

Expected to highlight the owners meeting to follow the draft is the list of demands by the newly formed NFL Players Assn.

Actually, only 24 rounds of the draft were to be held today. The first four rounds were held at a special session in November in order to give NFL teams an even start with Canadian league clubs in bidding for the cream of last year's American college football player crop.

Forty eight players were taken in the November draft, including eight of the 1956 college All-America team. Of the remaining three, one, John Majors, Tennessee back, has signed with a Canadian team; Alex Karras, Iowa tackle is only a junior, and John Witte, Oregon State tackle, was taken in 1955 when his original class graduated. There are, however, a host of brilliant college performers up for grabs.

Bell made it plain that only college seniors, or players whose original class had graduated were eligible for the pro draft. Players in the Pacific Coast Conference ruled ineligible by the conference for further competition, but whose class has not graduated are not eligible. C. R. Roberts, 206-pound star fullback of Southern California is a junior who loses a year of eligibility under a PCC ruling. He is not, however, available in this draft.

The draft was expected to take up the entire first day of the annual meeting, lasting well into tonight.

Commissioner Bert Bell is expected to report on a very favorable 1956, a year in which the league set a new attendance record, found peace with Canada over player raids, and partook of record television and radio receipts. Reportedly, every team in the league, including the last place Eagles, were in the black financially last year.

Bell said after Wednesday's association - league meeting that he would present the player demands to the owners at the sessions starting today. If no action is taken by the owners. Bell said he would arrange another meeting between the owners and the player spokesmen.

Otterbein '5' Squeezes Win From Oberlin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Otterbein College managed to squeeze out an 85-84 win over Oberlin in an Ohio Conference basketball game Wednesday night at Westerville, but not before the game had gone into its second overtime period.

With 10 minutes left, Oberlin's Jim O'Connor went on a scoring rampage good for 20 points. The rally threw the game into its first overtime. Another rally by Oberlin forced a second overtime.

DePaul trailed the host Flyers by a single point with 11 minutes to go. Then Dayton exploded with 12 points to move far ahead.

At Alliance, Geneva (Pa.) College came from behind to gain a 61-57 triumph over Mt. Union.

A Marine invasion of Steubenville was repulsed, but not without a battle. Steubenville came out on top over Quantico Marines, however, 63-62.

Kenny Lane Eyes Lightweight Title

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A co-manager of Kenny Lane said today his fighter is "ready for a title bout" and he's "prepared to post $75,000" for a shot at the lightweight championship.

Jack (Doc) Kearns, whose boy scored a sixth round technical knockout victory Wednesday night over Frankie Ryff, said "we'll win the lightweight title."

Lane, ranked the No. 2 contender for the lightweight crown held by Joe Brown, had rated this rematch with Ryff the key fight in his bid to take on the winner of the Brown-Bud Smith title fight Feb. 13 in Miami.

3 Teams Tied In County League; Five Games On Schedule Friday

With only two more league meetings on schedule, Pickaway County's cage loop currently has three teams deadlocked for first place.

Ashville, Darby and Scioto are the pace-setters, each with identical records of seven wins and one defeat. The Pirates of Pickaway are in sole possession of second place with a slate of six wins and two losses.

Proving that the three first place teams are apparently evenly matched, Ashville is the only team to defeat Darby, yet the Broncos were downed by Scioto which in turn was beaten by the Trojans.

Five more tilts are scheduled for Friday night and there is a possibility that an upset or two may be in sight. The contests are as follows:

* * *

WALNUT at Perry; Saltcreek at Jackson; Ashville at Monroe; New Holland at Darby; and Scioto at Pickaway. Williamsport, drawing a bye in league play, is not scheduled for the evening.

The Buffaloes of Scioto will have a lot at stake when they travel to Pickaway where they will run headlong into the second place Pirates. Fresh from a victory over a strong Amanda team Tuesday night, Coach Charlie Baxter's boys would like nothing better than an upset.

Another battle that will be in the spotlight is the New Holland-Darby meeting. The up-and-coming Bulldogs are also upset minded.

If past performances are an indication, Ashville may have their hands full with Monroe. Several weeks ago, the Indians put on quite a show before they were finally defeated by the top-ranking Buffaloes of Scioto.

In the league scoring department, unofficial tabulations show that Pickaway's Dave Smith is still top man with 171 points for eight games. Following close behind is New Holland's Glenn Large with 162, also scored in eight contests.

Third place honors go to Stoer of Scioto and Guthiel of Darby, each with 148 points in eight games.

Cincy Group Eyes Pro Cage Charter

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati group's hopes for a National Basketball Assn. franchise for this city may be up for consideration here today.

Robert L. Siegel, Cincinnati attorney and leader of a group campaigning for the franchise, said he has been invited to meet with Les Harrison, general manager of the Rochester Royals. He said he "assumed" Harrison wanted to talk about the possibility of the Cincinnati group buying the Rochester franchise and, he added:

Proposal Aimed At OSU Grid TV

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Legislature has before it a new attempt to force unlimited televising of Ohio State University football games.

House Minority Leader James J. McGettrick and Rep. Francis D. Sullivan, Cleveland Democrats, Wednesday asked for a new law to prohibit membership of state-supported universities in associations which restrict televising of athletic events.

Such a bill, if passed, would affect the 1957 and 1958 football seasons.

Similar legislation got nowhere two years ago.

Duquesne Cager Lengthens Record

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dave Ricketts, star Duquesne basketball player, ran his streak of consecutive foul conversions to 40 Wednesday night.

Dave was flawless as he established the new collegiate foul shooting mark while scoring 28 points and leading Duquesne to a 71-67 victory over St. Francis of Brooklyn at Pitt Fieldhouse. He got eight foul chances in the second half, winding up with a 10 for 10 night. Where he'll stop no one knows, including Dave.

Rule Changes Seen Curbing Big 10 Scores

CHICAGO (AP)—Rules interpretation in the Big Ten are putting a brake on scoring this season, official statistics indicated today.

With nearly half of the campaign gone, Archie Dees of Indiana continues to lead conference sharpshooters with a 24.2 average, followed by Frank Howard of Ohio State with 21.1 and George Bon Salle of Illinois with 20.2.

Last year Ohio State's Robin Freeman won the scoring crown with 32.5. At the same time, Iowa's Bill Logan finished 10th with 18.8, the same average that currently is good for fourth place held by Minnesota's George Kline.

The first nine scorers last season averaged more than 20 points, but this year only the top three have hit better than that figure.

The dropoff possibly stems from the rules interpretation in which the bonus free throw is not awarded until after an opponent has committed more than six fouls in a half, and in the instruction to officials not to call back court fouls unless they affect control.

The leading 11 scorers have netted 21 per cent of their points from the free throw line. Freeman got 28 per cent of his on gift shots and runnerup Julius McCoy of Michigan State 26 per cent.

Three of the best current scorers are ahead of the field goal accuracy mark of .504 per cent set by Don Schlundt of Indiana in 1954. Howard has .544, Kline .545 and Illinois' Hiles Stout with .563.

The top team percentage is held by Ohio State with .459 of its field goal attempts with Illinois next at .424. Indiana's .732 on free throws is tops with Ohio State's .701 next.

Al Rosen Says Retirement Final

CLEVELAND (AP) — Al Rosen says "nothing in the world" can make him change his mind about retiring from baseball.

The 33-year-old Cleveland third baseman said last fall that he would not be back this season, but that the formal announcement would come from the Indians.

He sent a note to friends and customers Wednesday announcing that he would remain at his job as a stockbroker. He admitted he was asked for a delay in announcement of his retirement, but said he couldn't wait any longer.

Pay-As-Go Deal Pledged By O'Neill

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Reiterating his opposition to a state income tax, Gov. C. William O'Neill Wednesday promised the state government would operate within limits of anticipated revenue on a pay-as-you-go basis.

He addressed Mahoning and Trumbull County Republican leaders here. He is in this area for a series of McKinley Day speeches.

Egypt Completes Submarine Base

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The weekly magazine Akhar Saa reported today that Egypt's biggest submarine base has been completed at Alexandria.

The magazine said the base has been set up to become the largest in the eastern Mediterranean and that new submarines have arrived. Egypt is reported to have purchased submarines from Communist countries.

Pro Football Chiefs Set For Final Draft

Owners Slated To Pick Cream Of College Crop In Annual Conference

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League opened its three day annual meeting today with the college player draft.

The 12 teams drafted according to their final position in the 1956 NFL race with the last place Philadelphia Eagles selecting first and the world champion New York Giants last.

Expected to highlight the owners meeting to follow the draft is the list of demands by the newly formed NFL Players Assn.

Actually, only 24 rounds of the draft were to be held today. The first four rounds were held at a special session in November in order to give NFL teams an even start with Canadian league clubs in bidding for the cream of last year's American college football player crop.

Forty eight players were taken in the November draft, including eight of the 1956 college All-America team. Of the remaining three, one, John Majors, Tennessee back, has signed with a Canadian team; Alex Karras, Iowa tackle is only a junior, and John Witte, Oregon State tackle, was taken in 1955 when his original class graduated. There are, however, a host of brilliant college performers up for grabs.

Bell made it plain that only college seniors, or players whose original class had graduated were eligible for the pro draft. Players in the Pacific Coast Conference ruled ineligible by the conference for further competition, but whose class has not graduated are not eligible. C. R. Roberts, 206-pound star fullback of Southern California is a junior who loses a year of eligibility under a PCC ruling. He is not, however, available in this draft.

The draft was expected to take up the entire first day of the annual meeting, lasting well into tonight.

Commissioner Bert Bell is expected to report on a very favorable 1956, a year in which the league set a new attendance record, found peace with Canada over player raids, and partook of record television and radio receipts. Reportedly, every team in the league, including the last place Eagles, were in the black financially last year.

Bell said after Wednesday's association - league meeting that he would present the player demands to the owners at the sessions starting today. If no action is taken by the owners. Bell said he would arrange another meeting between the owners and the player spokesmen.

Otterbein '5' Squeezes Win From Oberlin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Otterbein College managed to squeeze out an 85-84 win over Oberlin in an Ohio Conference basketball game Wednesday night at Westerville, but not before the game had gone into its second overtime period.

With 10 minutes left, Oberlin's Jim O'Connor went on a scoring rampage good for 20 points. The rally threw the game into its first overtime. Another rally by Oberlin forced a second overtime.

DePaul trailed the host Flyers by a single point with 11 minutes to go. Then Dayton exploded with 12 points to move far ahead.

In Athens, Ohio University's Bobcats breezed to a 103-74 victory over Marshall College of Huntington, W. Va. in a Mid-American Conference encounter.

At Alliance, Geneva (Pa.) College came from behind to gain a 61-57 triumph over Mt. Union.

A Marine invasion of Steubenville was repulsed, but not without a battle. Steubenville came out on top over Quantico Marines, however, 63-62.

Kenny Lane Eyes Lightweight Title

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A co-manager of Kenny Lane said today his fighter is "ready for a title bout" and he's "prepared to post $75,000" for a shot at the lightweight championship.

Jack (Doc) Kearns, whose boy scored a sixth round technical knockout victory Wednesday night over Frankie Ryff, said "we'll win the lightweight title."

Lane, ranked the No. 2 contender for the lightweight crown held by Joe Brown, had rated this rematch with Ryff the key fight in his bid to take on the winner of the Brown-Bud Smith title fight Feb. 13 in Miami.

3 Teams Tied In County League; Five Games On Schedule Friday

With only two more league meetings on schedule, Pickaway County's cage loop currently has three teams deadlocked for first place.

Ashville, Darby and Scioto are the pace-setters, each with identical records of seven wins and one defeat. The Pirates of Pickaway are in sole possession of second place with a slate of six wins and two losses.

Proving that the three first place teams are apparently evenly matched, Ashville is the only team to defeat Darby, yet the Broncos were downed by Scioto which in turn was beaten by the Trojans.

Five more tilts are scheduled for Friday night and there is a possibility that an upset or two may be in sight. The contests are as follows:

* * *

WALNUT at Perry; Saltcreek at Jackson; Ashville at Monroe; New Holland at Darby; and Scioto at Pickaway. Williamsport, drawing a bye in league play, is not scheduled for the evening.

The Buffaloes of Scioto will have a lot at stake when they travel to Pickaway where they will run headlong into the second place Pirates. Fresh from a victory over a strong Amanda team Tuesday night, Coach Charlie Baxter's boys would like nothing better than an upset.

Another battle that will be in the spotlight is the New Holland-Darby meeting. The up-and-coming Bulldogs are also upset minded.

If past performances are an indication, Ashville may have their hands full with Monroe. Several weeks ago, the Indians put on quite a show before they were finally defeated by the top-ranking Buffaloes of Scioto.

In the league scoring department, unofficial tabulations show that Pickaway's Dave Smith is still top man with 171 points for eight games. Following close behind is New Holland's Glenn Large with 162, also scored in eight contests.

Third place honors go to Stoer of Scioto and Guthiel of Darby, each with 148 points in eight games.

Cincy Group Eyes Pro Cage Charter

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati group's hopes for a National Basketball Assn. franchise for this city may be up for consideration here today.

Robert L. Siegel, Cincinnati attorney and leader of a group campaigning for the franchise, said he has been invited to meet with Les Harrison, general manager of the Rochester Royals. He said he "assumed" Harrison wanted to talk about the possibility of the Cincinnati group buying the Rochester franchise and, he added:

Proposal Aimed At OSU Grid TV

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Legislature has before it a new attempt to force unlimited televising of Ohio State University football games.

House Minority Leader James J. McGettrick and Rep. Francis D. Sullivan, Cleveland Democrats, Wednesday asked for a new law to prohibit membership of state-supported universities in associations which restrict televising of athletic events.

Such a bill, if passed, would affect the 1957 and 1958 football seasons.

Similar legislation got nowhere two years ago.

Duquesne Cager Lengthens Record

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dave Ricketts, star Duquesne basketball player, ran his streak of consecutive foul conversions to 40 Wednesday night.

Dave was flawless as he established the new collegiate foul shooting mark while scoring 28 points and leading Duquesne to a 71-67 victory over St. Francis of Brooklyn at Pitt Fieldhouse. He got eight foul chances in the second half, winding up with a 10 for 10 night. Where he'll stop no one knows, including Dave.

Rule Changes Seen Curbing Big 10 Scores

CHICAGO (AP)—Rules interpretation in the Big Ten are putting a brake on scoring this season, official statistics indicated today.

With nearly half of the campaign gone, Archie Dees of Indiana continues to lead conference sharpshooters with a 24.2 average, followed by Frank Howard of Ohio State with 21.1 and George Bon Salle of Illinois with 20.2.

Last year Ohio State's Robin Freeman won the scoring crown with 32.5. At the same time, Iowa's Bill Logan finished 10th with 18.8, the same average that currently is good for fourth place held by Minnesota's George Kline.

The first nine scorers last season averaged more than 20 points, but this year only the top three have hit better than that figure.

The dropoff possibly stems from the rules interpretation in which the bonus free throw is not awarded until after an opponent has committed more than six fouls in a half, and in the instruction to officials not to call back court fouls unless they affect control.

The leading 11 scorers have netted 21 per cent of their points from the free throw line. Freeman got 28 per cent of his on gift shots and runnerup Julius McCoy of Michigan State 26 per cent.

Three of the best current scorers are ahead of the field goal accuracy mark of .504 per cent set by Don Schlundt of Indiana in 1954. Howard has .544, Kline .545 and Illinois' Hiles Stout with .563.

The top team percentage is held by Ohio State with .459 of its field goal attempts with Illinois next at .424. Indiana's .732 on free throws is tops with Ohio State's .701 next.

Al Rosen Says Retirement Final

The 33-year-old Cleveland third baseman said last fall that he would not be back this season, but that the formal announcement would come from the Indians.

He sent a note to friends and customers Wednesday announcing that he would remain at his job as a stockbroker. He admitted he was asked for a delay in announcement of his retirement, but said he couldn't wait any longer.

Pay-As-Go Deal Pledged By O'Neill

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Reiterating his opposition to a state income tax, Gov. C. William O'Neill Wednesday promised the state government would operate within limits of anticipated revenue on a pay-as-you-go basis.

He addressed Mahoning and Trumbull County Republican leaders here. He is in this area for a series of McKinley Day speeches.

Egypt Completes Submarine Base

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The weekly magazine Akhar Saa reported today that Egypt's biggest submarine base has been completed at Alexandria.

The magazine said the base has been set up to become the largest in the eastern Mediterranean and that new submarines have arrived. Egypt is reported to have purchased submarines from Communist countries.

Livestock Raisers Warned To Watch For Listeriosis Signs

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Drooping ears and a listless attitude in cattle and sheep at this time of year should alert livestock raisers that a disease known as listeriosis may be present, according to a bulletin by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Listeriosis appears to be an increasing problem in some parts of the country. The greatest danger season for losses from this condition extends from December through March, Foundation officials say.

The disease was first reported in cattle and sheep less than 20 years ago. It is primarily a brain inflammation, appearing first as a fever, followed by indications of stupor, circling movements, drooping of an ear, paralysis of the jaw and in some cases, inflammation of the eye.

"Listeriosis may be more common than many livestock owners now realize," the Foundation says. "Accurate diagnosis depends upon laboratory isolation of the organism which causes the disease."

Veterinarians have reported some success in combating listeriosis if treatment can be started early. In an outbreak, the Foundation advises that affected animals be isolated and the remainder of the herd scattered over as large an area as possible.

* * *

A survey conducted by a special committee of the American Veterinary Medical Association indicated that each dollar spent on veterinary service returned $5.78 to the livestock owner.

Veterinary practitioners in 31 states participated in the survey. All were under instructions to place conservative values on the animals saved or the losses prevented through medical service. No attempt was made to evaluate veterinary service for immunizing programs or for brucellosis or tuberculosis eradication work.

Veterinary Medicine, a professional magazine, said of veterinary services, "It can be stated with certainty that the livestock industry in the United States would not be possible were it not for the diagnosis, immunization, and other control measures exercised by the veterinary profession for the control of infectious diseases."

Seven steps recommended by University of Illinois agronomists for controlling erosion and cutting losses of topsoil and water, have been listed by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

1. Treat the soil. Apply limestone and fertilizer as needed. The more you build up the productivity of the fields in grass and legumes, the greater will be the protection from erosion. Luxuriant plant cover and rich organic matter hold the soil in place.

2. Use rotations that include grasses and legumes. Grow these crops often enough to keep soil losses at a safe, low level.

3. Manage crops in a way that will reduce erosion. Good management includes disking down stalks in the fall and moderate grazing of grain and pasture.

4. Farm on the contour. This not only helps hold soil, but increases yields.

5. Combine strip cropping or terracing with contouring on slopes too long or too steep for contouring alone.

6. Provide grass waterways and outlets to remove runoff.

7. Improve soil drainage. Establish good root systems and install tile systems where needed.

"These steps," say the agronomists, "are essential for continued profitable farming on your land."

Juvenile Judges Seek Law Aimed Against Parents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Assn. of Juvenile Judges has been urged to oppose enactment of legislation making parents liable for malicious destruction of property by their children.

Don J. Young Jr. of Norwalk, Huron County juvenile judge, told the annual meeting of the judges Wednesday:

"We should be the first to oppose the enactment of legislation that will not, clearly, promote fairness and justice."

He said a statute which is the result of the "emotional idea that we ought to do something about juvenile delinquency, so let's make the parents pay some damages, is only going to complicate unnecessarily already well established legal developments."

In another talk, Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland said juvenile traffic cases should be retained in juvenile court and not removed to the jurisdiction of another court.

Added Diabetic Research Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Physicians are continuing to look into the possibility to treating diabetics without the use of insulin injections.

But at this stage, much more research is needed before non-insulin pills can be given widespread use, says Dr. Rachmiel Levine of Chicago's Reese Hospital.

Dr. Levine yesterday addressed some 200 diabetics specialists meeting for a postgraduate diabetic course at Ohio State University.

He said that in any event, persons who develop diabetes as children or in their youth probably will have to continue with insulin treatment.

'Ham' Radio Men Aid Flood Work

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two northern Kentucky "ham" radio operators and a helicopter from Cincinnati are helping direct relief personnel and land supplies in disaster flood areas of Kentucky.

State Sen. Carl Ruh of South Ft. Mitchell, Ky., and the Rev. Paul Ciagnetti of Covington, Ky., were among the "ham" operators establishing contact with the stricken areas.

Ruh said a network of "hams" was directed from Williamson, Ky. Need of drinking water, medical supplies, food and radio equipment was stressed, he added.

The United States ranks as the fourth largest nation in population in the world. China, India and Russia are more populous.

Livestock Raisers Warned To Watch For Listeriosis Signs

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Drooping ears and a listless attitude in cattle and sheep at this time of year should alert livestock raisers that a disease known as listeriosis may be present, according to a bulletin by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Listeriosis appears to be an increasing problem in some parts of the country. The greatest danger season for losses from this condition extends from December through March, Foundation officials say.

The disease was first reported in cattle and sheep less than 20 years ago. It is primarily a brain inflammation, appearing first as a fever, followed by indications of stupor, circling movements, drooping of an ear, paralysis of the jaw and in some cases, inflammation of the eye.

"Listeriosis may be more common than many livestock owners now realize," the Foundation says. "Accurate diagnosis depends upon laboratory isolation of the organism which causes the disease."

Veterinarians have reported some success in combating listeriosis if treatment can be started early. In an outbreak, the Foundation advises that affected animals be isolated and the remainder of the herd scattered over as large an area as possible.

A survey conducted by a special committee of the American Veterinary Medical Association indicated that each dollar spent on veterinary service returned $5.78 to the livestock owner.

Veterinary practitioners in 31 states participated in the survey. All were under instructions to place conservative values on the animals saved or the losses prevented through medical service. No attempt was made to evaluate veterinary service for immunizing programs or for brucellosis or tuberculosis eradication work.

Veterinary Medicine, a professional magazine, said of veterinary services, "It can be stated with certainty that the livestock industry in the United States would not be possible were it not for the diagnosis, immunization, and other control measures exercised by the veterinary profession for the control of infectious diseases."

Seven steps recommended by University of Illinois agronomists for controlling erosion and cutting losses of topsoil and water, have been listed by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

1. Treat the soil. Apply limestone and fertilizer as needed. The more you build up the productivity of the fields in grass and legumes, the greater will be the protection from erosion. Luxuriant plant cover and rich organic matter hold the soil in place.

2. Use rotations that include grasses and legumes. Grow these crops often enough to keep soil losses at a safe, low level.

3. Manage crops in a way that will reduce erosion. Good management includes disking down stalks in the fall and moderate grazing of grain and pasture.

4. Farm on the contour. This not only helps hold soil, but increases yields.

5. Combine strip cropping or terracing with contouring on slopes too long or too steep for contouring alone.

6. Provide grass waterways and outlets to remove runoff.

7. Improve soil drainage. Establish good root systems and install tile systems where needed.

Juvenile Judges Seek Law Aimed Against Parents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Assn. of Juvenile Judges has been urged to oppose enactment of legislation making parents liable for malicious destruction of property by their children.

Don J. Young Jr. of Norwalk, Huron County juvenile judge, told the annual meeting of the judges Wednesday:

"We should be the first to oppose the enactment of legislation that will not, clearly, promote fairness and justice."

He said a statute which is the result of the "emotional idea that we ought to do something about juvenile delinquency, so let's make the parents pay some damages, is only going to complicate unnecessarily already well established legal developments."

In another talk, Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland said juvenile traffic cases should be retained in juvenile court and not removed to the jurisdiction of another court.

Added Diabetic Research Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Physicians are continuing to look into the possibility to treating diabetics without the use of insulin injections.

But at this stage, much more research is needed before non-insulin pills can be given widespread use, says Dr. Rachmiel Levine of Chicago's Reese Hospital.

Dr. Levine yesterday addressed some 200 diabetics specialists meeting for a postgraduate diabetic course at Ohio State University.

He said that in any event, persons who develop diabetes as children or in their youth probably will have to continue with insulin treatment.

'Ham' Radio Men Aid Flood Work

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two northern Kentucky "ham" radio operators and a helicopter from Cincinnati are helping direct relief personnel and land supplies in disaster flood areas of Kentucky.

State Sen. Carl Ruh of South Ft. Mitchell, Ky., and the Rev. Paul Ciagnetti of Covington, Ky., were among the "ham" operators establishing contact with the stricken areas.

Ruh said a network of "hams" was directed from Williamson, Ky. Need of drinking water, medical supplies, food and radio equipment was stressed, he added.

The United States ranks as the fourth largest nation in population in the world. China, India and Russia are more populous.
